Strong-Arm Barbers In L. A. Nabbed

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—Barbers who frighten he-men into taking facials, eye-brow plucks and other tonsorial embellishments, were the object of a police investigation here today.

As the result of the complaint of Jan Hendek, who was sent forth from a local barber shop with only one side of his hair clipped, because, he charges, he refused to take hair treatments, costing $5 to $10, two barbers were under arrest today.

Hendek charges that William M. O'Brien, barber shop proprietor, and his assistant, Clarence C. Baker, threatened to "treat him rough" unless he took the treatments. He appealed to the city prosecutor's office for aid.

Hendek said that when he refused treatments the barbers refused to finish his haircut and he was forced to leave the shop with his hair half cut.

O'Brien and Baker were charged with disturbing the peace since they did not, as in the case of Russell C. Baker, another barber under arrest for petty larceny, collect any money from Hendek.

JUSTICE COURT FIXES BAIL IN 22 RUM CASES

Jury Trial Asked by All Appearing on Possession Charges

As the county-wide liquor clean-up, launched by District Attorney Z. B. West jr. and Sheriff Sam Jernigan, swung into its third lap today, the center of interest shifted Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, where 22 of the 46 who have been arrested were taken for the formality of having bail fixed.

Those charged with sale learned that bail would be $1000 and those accused of possession were informed that $500 bail would be required.

N. L. Jean, of the Bristol Drug company, Santa Ana, paid a $500 fine yesterday afternoon on a charge of possession. This brings the total number of fines paid by pharmacists to five.

L. J. Mathews, 56, Serra, was informed through Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman that a charge of sale will be preferred against him. Originally the accusation was possession, for which Mathews put up $500 bail. He was returned to the jail.

GAS BLAST DEATH INQUEST ORDERED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—Preparations were being made by the coroner's office today for an inquest into the death of Frank Bancroft, of Southgate, who succumbed following a gas explosion in a private residence.

Bancroft, J. Rayborn and Joe Fronlagh were severely burned Wednesday, when Bancroft is said to have lit his pipe and ignited leaking gas which had spread through the house. Rayborn and Fronlagh were not fatally hurt.

The report at Coroner [illegible] office declared, "the gas was turned on by persons [illegible]." It was reported that upon removal of a range a gas pipe had not been properly capped.

RUTH SNYDER, GRAY PRAY TO GOD FOR MERCY AS THEY PAY SUPREME PENALTY

PHIL GOODWIN RETURNS TO SANTA ANA FOR NEW TRIAL

Alleged Murderer Nervous As He Faces Another Chance for Life

A LITTLE more nervous and with the gray at his temples much more prominent, the Rev. Phil A. Goodwin, 30, at one time the convicted slayer of Joseph J. Patterson, Los Angeles bond salesman, came back to Santa Ana yesterday afternoon, to face a new jury and receive another chance at life.

Convicted in Judge E. J. Marks' superior court here in November, 1926 of murdering Patterson and setting fire to his body in the Santa Ana canyon, the dapper little priest, for the past 14 months has been in the death house at San Quentin prison.

On December 1, 1927, the first day of his 13th month in the death house, the supreme court granted him a new trial and he arrived back here yesterday between Sheriff Sam Jernigan and Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan.

Changes But Little

Phil Goodwin has seen many things since he left here and considering them, he has changed but little. His guards believe him to be on the point of a nervous breakdown, but to the casual observer, there is little change. He talks in the same jerky manner he did when his trial was the sensation of the county. He has not lost his cockiness and he is as sure that he will be acquitted as he was the day they left with him for the death house that he would never hang.

"There was a law higher than the man made laws of California

JULIAN JURY NOT YET COMPLETED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—The jury to try the first group of defendants charged with "wrecking" the Julian Petroleum corporation is not expected to be completed before Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

Although the state indicated yesterday it was satisfied with the 12 jurors in the box, the defense continued to challenge the panel and the opinion was expressed today that they may require another week to reach complete agreement.

With Superior Judge William C. Doran in complete charge of the examination, the procedure has been speeded up and with few exceptions the court asks all questions.

BILL PROVIDES FOR POSTAL RATES CUT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Reduction of postal rates totaling about $19,000,000 a year, is provided in a bill introduced today by Chairman Griest, Pennsylvania, of the house post-office committee.

The measure, revising the 1925 schedules, has the approval of the administration, he said.

Chamberlin's Plane Still In Air

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Clarence D. Chamberlin and George Williams, his co-pilot, passed the 38th hour of continuous flying at 4:21.58 p. m. today, in their attempt to set a new world's endurance record. The Bellanca monoplane appeared from the ground to be functioning perfectly.

California Murderer Maintains Innocence Until Trap Is Sprung

(By United Press)

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 13.—Earle Nelson, of San Francisco, "strangler killer." was hanged in the courtyard of the provincial jail here at 7:41 a. m., today.

He paid the penalty for the killing of Mrs. Emily Patterson and was believed guilty of more than a score of strangulation murders in the United States and Canada.

Sixteen minutes after the trap was sprung doctors pronounced Nelson dead.

ALLEGED KIDNAPER SOUGHT BY POLICE

TULARE, Calif., Jan. 13.—A kidnaping warrant was sworn out today against Carlos Fernandes for the alleged abduction of 13-year-old Elvera Fernandes, following the latter's disappearance yesterday noon.

The alleged abductor, a distant relative of the Fernandes family, was believed to have headed for Redondo or Pittsburgh, Calif., and police elsewhere have been notified to be on the lookout.

The warrant was sworn out by the girl's father.

The theory that Fernandez may have planned to take the girl the Mexico to marry her there prompted local authorities also to request the aid of Southern California authorities in the search.

Siddons to Decide on Guilt Or Innocence of Sinclair Case Prosecutor

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Justice F. L. Siddons overruled today a motion to dismiss the charge of intimidation filed again James O'Leary, assistant U. S. attorney in the Sinclair-Burns contempt trial.

The motion was made by U. S. Attorney Peyton Gordon at conclusion of two weeks' evidence on the intimidation charge.

Gordon said defense attorneys had not proved its accusation that O'Leary coerced Edward J. Kidwell jr., juror in the Fall-Sinclair oil trial into signing an affidavit saying he knew he was being shadowed during the trial.

In overruling the motion, Justice Siddons said he would decide later on O'Leary's guilt or innocence.

Meanwhile, he ordered resumption of evidence in the contempt case in which Harry F. Sinclair and two aides are under fire for alleged jury shadowing.

Walsh Promises Evidence To Teapot Investigators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Owen Roberts, special government oil prosecutor, promised in a conference with Senator Walsh, Montana, today to turn over to the senate Teapot Dome investigating committee all evidence accumulated by his investigators concerning the $3,000,000 profits of the Continental Trading company.

Subpoenas for witnesses to appear Tuesday, at the opening of the committee hearing, will be issued tomorrow.

PRESIDENT, AIDES LEAVE FOR HAVANA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—President and Mrs. Coolidge, accompanied by the American delegation and newspapermen, left here on a special train at 2:02 p. m., today, for Havana, where the president is to open the Pan American conference Monday.

Several hundred persons saw them off.

The train will stop at Miami late tomorrow and then will proceed to Key West, where the presidential party of 86 will board the battleship Texas for Havana.

INTERIOR MEASURE PASSED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The house late today passed the interior department appropriation bill carrying approximately $272,500,000 for pensions, reclamation, Indian affairs, national parks and other departmental agencies.

All items of reclamation projects and practically all other items were passed as recommended by the appropriations committee.

Rescue Ship Reports Freighter Safe

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 13.—The motorship Aorangi, after circling around the freighter Griffco, reported today that the ship, for which grave alarm had been felt, was continuing its voyage from Seattle to Honolulu.

"All is well," read a message relayed by the Aorangi from the Griffco early today. The message was sent to the Inter-Island Steam Navigation company, at Honolulu, and was intercepted here by the Mackay-Federal Telegraph company's radio station.

EMERSON ASKS FOR DELAY ON BOULDER BILL

Wyoming Governor Thinks Another Year Will Find States Agreeing

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Construction of the Boulder canyon dam project would be "harassed continually" by controversies among the states involved unless a compact is signed before adoption of legislation, Gov. George Emerson, Wyoming, told the house irrigation committee today, in urging delay on the Swing-Johnson bill until a compact is signed.

"I feel sure that another year will see some agreement among the seven states, which would have to be ratified by the state legislators in 1929," Emerson said.

He appealed for delay on behalf of the upper basin states.

"In the best interests of all, there should be an agreement first before any legislation is passed," he said.

"A good deal of progress has been made in negotiations among the states. Arizona has come to the point where she will approve the seven-state compact if she can

FIGHT OVER TARIFF SPREADS TO HOUSE

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—A unanimous agreement to vote on the McMaster resolution for tariff revision at 3 p. m., Monday, was reached this afternoon by the senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The tariff fight spread today to the house with announcement by Representative Dickinson, Republican, Iowa, leader of the house farm bloc, that he was preparing a bill for upward revision of the tariff on agriculture commodities as a measure of farm relief.

Representative Garner, Texas, ranking Democrat, on the ways and means committee, which drafts tariff legislation, announced he would exert all possible pressure to force tariff revision proposals from committee to the house floor.

Both Slayers Calm As State Claims Lives

Woman Sobs as She Is Led To Death; Man Dignified to Last

BY LOUIS KEEMLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SING SING PRISON, Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, lovers and murderers, have paid the penalty for their love and murder in the same electric chair. They went to death between 11 and 11:14 o'clock last night without a sign of fear and praying to God for mercy.

The first woman to die in this state in 19 years and one of the handful ever to suffer capital punishment in this country, met death with calmness and resignation.

She and Gray, who had been ilicit lovers, were put to death for killing her husband, Albert Snyder, in Queens Village, N. Y., last March. They chloroformed him, beat him to death with a sash weight and strangled him with wire.

About 40 See Execution

Their lives were forfeited to the state in a little high ceilinged room, about 40 feet long and 20 feet wide, in which a group of 40 persons, including two women, had gathered.

"Forgive me, Father, for all my sins," Mrs. Snyder said in a low, thin voice just before 2200 volts of electricity were shot into her body. Then she whimpered and sobbed ever so faintly.

In the solemn strained stillness of the execution chamber it was plainly audible and it sounded like a little child about to be punished. Then the current was turned on. She never moved again.

The witnesses who had gathered in the warden's office were led to the death chamber in a far corner of the prison by a long route under the open sky. A few stars showed. It was cold. They were ushered in in single file through the door of the death chamber and seated in four rows of benches, like church pews, in the right hand corner. A few had to stand.

Warden Stands At Rear

Warden Lewis E. Lawes stood at the rear. Guards and the doctors ranged either wall. At the left rear, oposite the witness benches, was the closed door of the autopsy chamber. On the same side, next to it and toward the front, was the open alcove where the executioner stood.

Opposite the executioner, facing the witness benches and about 15 feet from the front rows, stood the electric chair. To the right of it and a little behind in the corner was the door leading to the prison through which the condemned entered.

The witnesses were ushered in a minute or two before 11 o'clock. All the others were in their places. No one spoke.

There was a second or two of silence as the witnesses eyed the empty chair. It was something like an old fashioned barber's chair, with high back.

With abrupt suddenness the door to the prison swung back and Ruth Snyder came in. It was 11 o'clock.

Either Side

A matron was on either side and the Rev. John P. McCaffrey, Catholic chaplain of the prison, walked in front, holding a crucifix before her eyes and praying in low voiced Latin. A guard was well in the rear.

Mrs. Snyder walked slowly and steadily. Her eyes were straight ahead and apparently were taking in the figure of the cross. She ad-

Recommendation For Smith Action Prepared By Reed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—A resolution recommending definite action in the case of Senator-elect Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, in his battle for his senate seat, was drawn up today by Chairman James A. Reed, of the senate primary investigating committee.

The committee will decide tomorrow whether to sanction its presentation. It is understood the resolution recommends definite action excluding Smith permanently from the senate.

BUILDING TO EXTEND OVER TWO YEARS

District to Receive Third Greatest Appropriation In Southern California

NINE PROJECTS CITED

Widening and Repaving of S. A.-to-Anaheim Road, Irvine Subway Included

WIDENING AND repaving of the state highway between the city limits of Santa Ana and Anaheim and construction of a subway under the Santa Fe tracks at Irvine are improvements provided for in an apportionment by the state highway commission of $800,000 for highway work in Orange county in the next two years, according to information received here today from Sacramento.

In budgeting its expenses for the two-year period, the state highway commission allotted Orange county one of the largest appropriations made in Southern California, this district being exceeded only by Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties.

Projects provided for in the appropriation included:

Nine Projects Listed

Fullerton to Anaheim, 3 miles, $55,000 as the state's share; Galivan line change, grading and paving, $30,000; Galivan northerly, widening and second story concrete, 5 miles, $175,000; Santa Ana north city limits to Chapman street (road north of county hospital), 2 miles, widening and second story concrete, $100,000; Chapman street to Anaheim city limits, 2.8 miles, widening and second story concrete, $120,000; Galivan overhead crossing of Santa Fe railroad, $45,000; Irvine subway, $75,000 as state's share; widening Aliso creek bridge, $25,000; widening two bridges on Irvine ranch, $15,000.

The dispatch to the Register from Sacramento does not state whether the widening and repaving between Santa Ana and Anaheim is to be done under a plan by which the county and property owners would contribute to the costs. The size of the appropriations for the two sections, however, indicates that the state will bear the entire expense.

Will Not Bear All Expense

It is clearly indicated that the commission will not bear all the expense for the improvement between Anaheim and Fullerton, for it is stated in the dispatch that this is to be a co-operative project. Plans for widening and repaving that portion of the state highway were completed more than a year ago and it is believed that an agreement had been worked

NAVY DISASTER WAS UNAVOIDABLE, CLAIM

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—Three veteran naval officers, who had qualified as "expert witnesses," told the naval board of inquiry here today that the collision between the Coast Guard destroyer Paulding and the submarine S-4 appeared to have been unavoidable.

The witnesses, Capt. H. D. Cooke, Com. W. H. Lassing and Com. John H. S. Dessez, presented a wide divergence of opinion as to the distance at which the S-4's periscope could have been seen from the bridge of the destroyer, but they were as one in describing the accident as unpreventable.

HICKMAN PRACTICES INSANITY SCENES IN PREPARATION FOR COURTROOM EXHIBIT

BY DAN CAMPBELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13—Weird rehearsals of what the district attorney's office calls "insanity scenes," which will guide his conduct in court, were being staged in his cell today by William Edward Hickman.

Wild gesturing, voice control, contortions of the face and body and other evidences of insanity are being indulged in by the young slayer of Marian Parker in anticipation of the effect on the jury, according to Chief of Detectives [illegible].

[illegible] declared that after keeping a secret watch over Hickman, on orders of District Attorney Asa Keyes, that he was convinced the killer would attempt to convince the jury through his actions that he is insane.

Meanwhile Dr. R. O. Shelton, alienist retained by the defense, reported that "Hickman is wildly insane" and is suffering from dementia [illegible], or [illegible] insanity. Dr. Shelton spent three days in examining Hickman.

"He does not recognize the difference between right and wrong," Dr. Shelton said. "He is afflicted [illegible] in the emotions and is no more responsible for his actions than the worst case in any state hospital."

Dr. Shelton said that Hickman had a good memory and his intellectual rating was high, but that he lacked emotions and reactions and was suffering from insanity of hereditary nature which reached its climax while he still was in high school.

Six mental specialists, retained by the district attorney's office, were to begin their examination of Hickman today. The youth was expected to submit to the tests, following the ruling of Jail Physician Benjamin Blank that unless the state alienists were permitted to examine him, defense physicians would be barred.

Defense Attorney Richard Cantillon denied today that a motion for a change of venue was being considered as the result of action by various women's clubs in demanding the extreme penalty for the young killer.

The Cosmos club and the Philanthropy and Civics club have gone on record in the form of a resolution making such a demand, but more than a thousand delegates, who gathered at the meeting of the Los Angeles district Fedvanced to the chair, guided by the matrons, who then stood in front of her as though shielding her from view. She was assisted into the chair. Mrs. Snyder, her faded blonde hair hanging straight in a sort of Buster Brown bob, was dressed in a short, dark skirt of cheap prison material and a light green smock. She wore slippers. One of her white stockings was rolled half way down to the calf.

SNYDER, GRAY PRAY AS THEY GO TO CHAIR

As she sat in the chair, the guards closed in and moved swiftly. Two knelt and fastened her ankles to the short straps in front of the chair. The electrode was attached to her bare right leg. A strap went around her waist and another across her chest, pinning her in.

Death Cap Fastened On

The death cap, a regulation black leather leather football-like helmet, with an electrode in the crown to meet the bare spot clipped on top of her head, was fastened in place.

The death mask, a double affair that covers the eyes and mouth, with only a strip across the nose bare, was adjusted and the guards stepped back. The matrons, Mrs. Mary Manny and Mrs. Lillian Hickey, stood off to one side.

Until she sat in the chair Mrs. Snyder had made no sound.

As she sat down she suddenly began to speak. Her voice low and with that note of a frightened child in it, broke the stillness.

"Forgive them, Father, they know not what they do."

The words tumbled out less like a prayer than like some familiar line spoken to keep her courage.

"Forgive them, Father."

Her voice was a note higher and half stifled.

"Jesus, have mercy."

Mask Muffles Sound

The mask was muffling the sound.

"Forgive me, Father, for all my sins."

Then the executioner in the alcove threw down a switch, hard.

The figure in the chair, that had been limp, threw itself forward against the restraining bonds, stiffened and stayed that way. It never moved voluntarily again.

It was 11:02.

Silence endured for three minutes. The only sound was the heavy breathing of a stout witness.

At 11:05 the current was shot off and the body slumped down in the chair.

In another minute the group stepped forward.

The front of Mrs. Snyder's smock was laid back and Dr. C. C. Sweet, prison physician and one of his assistants, applied their stethoscopes.

Dr. Sweet faced the witnesses and said:

"I pronounce this woman dead."

It was at 11:07.

Guards Unbuckle Straps

The guards stepped up and unbuckled the straps and two white robed doctors lifted the limp body standing ready.

It was wheeled past the witnesses.

At 11:07 1-2 the door of the autopsy room closed behind Ruth Snyder.

There was a momentary pause, a reporter tore a sheet off his notebook with a disturbing sound.

The prison door opened again. Judd Gray, escorted by the principal keeper, John J. Sheehy, and the Protestant chaplain, the Rev. Anthony Peterson, entered.

Peterson was reading aloud from a prayer book.

"* * * that the world through Him might be saved."

Gray walked erect, his eyes looking straight ahead. He noticed neither the witnesses nor the waiting chair. His lips were moving in prayer. He seemed to be repeating after the chaplain:

"Blessed are the meek * * * ."

In Gray Sack Suit

He was in a gray sack suit of cheap prison material with a white shirt, collar attached, and necktie. A handkerchief peeked absurdly from his breast pocket over his heart.

"Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy," Gray repeated.

His back was to the chair and he sat down. It was 11:09.

Gray was strapped in. He had no strap across his waist, only one over the chest. Until the mask covered his face, his lips moved in an inaudible prayer.

He did not appear like a murderer. His attractive face had a helpless kind of dignity about it.

At 11:10 the current was turned on.

Gray shot forward just as Mrs. Snyder had done and remained fixed. The left hand curled slightly upward. The right hand was palm down. Not even a finger twitched.

Wisp of Smoke Appears

Forty pairs of eyes watched the still figure for two minutes. At 11:12 the reality of the execution came home when a wisp of smoke spiraled up from the right temple. The current was reduced to avoid burning the body and the smoke vanished as suddenly as it had come.

At 11:13 another little burst of smoke coiled up. The hand of the executioner, Robert Elliott, moved and the current was shut off. The doctors moved to the body, unbuttoned the shirt and undershirt and applied their stethoscopes.

"I pronounce this man dead," Dr. Sweet announced at 11:14.

Half a minute later the body was wheeled through the autopsy room door and Ruth and Judd, for the first time since their crime, were together again.

The execution that stirred the world was carried out with a precision and lack of sensation that semed calculated to make the process of capital punishment the least harrowing possible.

The drama moved to a steady climax through a long day and evening. Relatives called during the day and said their last farewells.

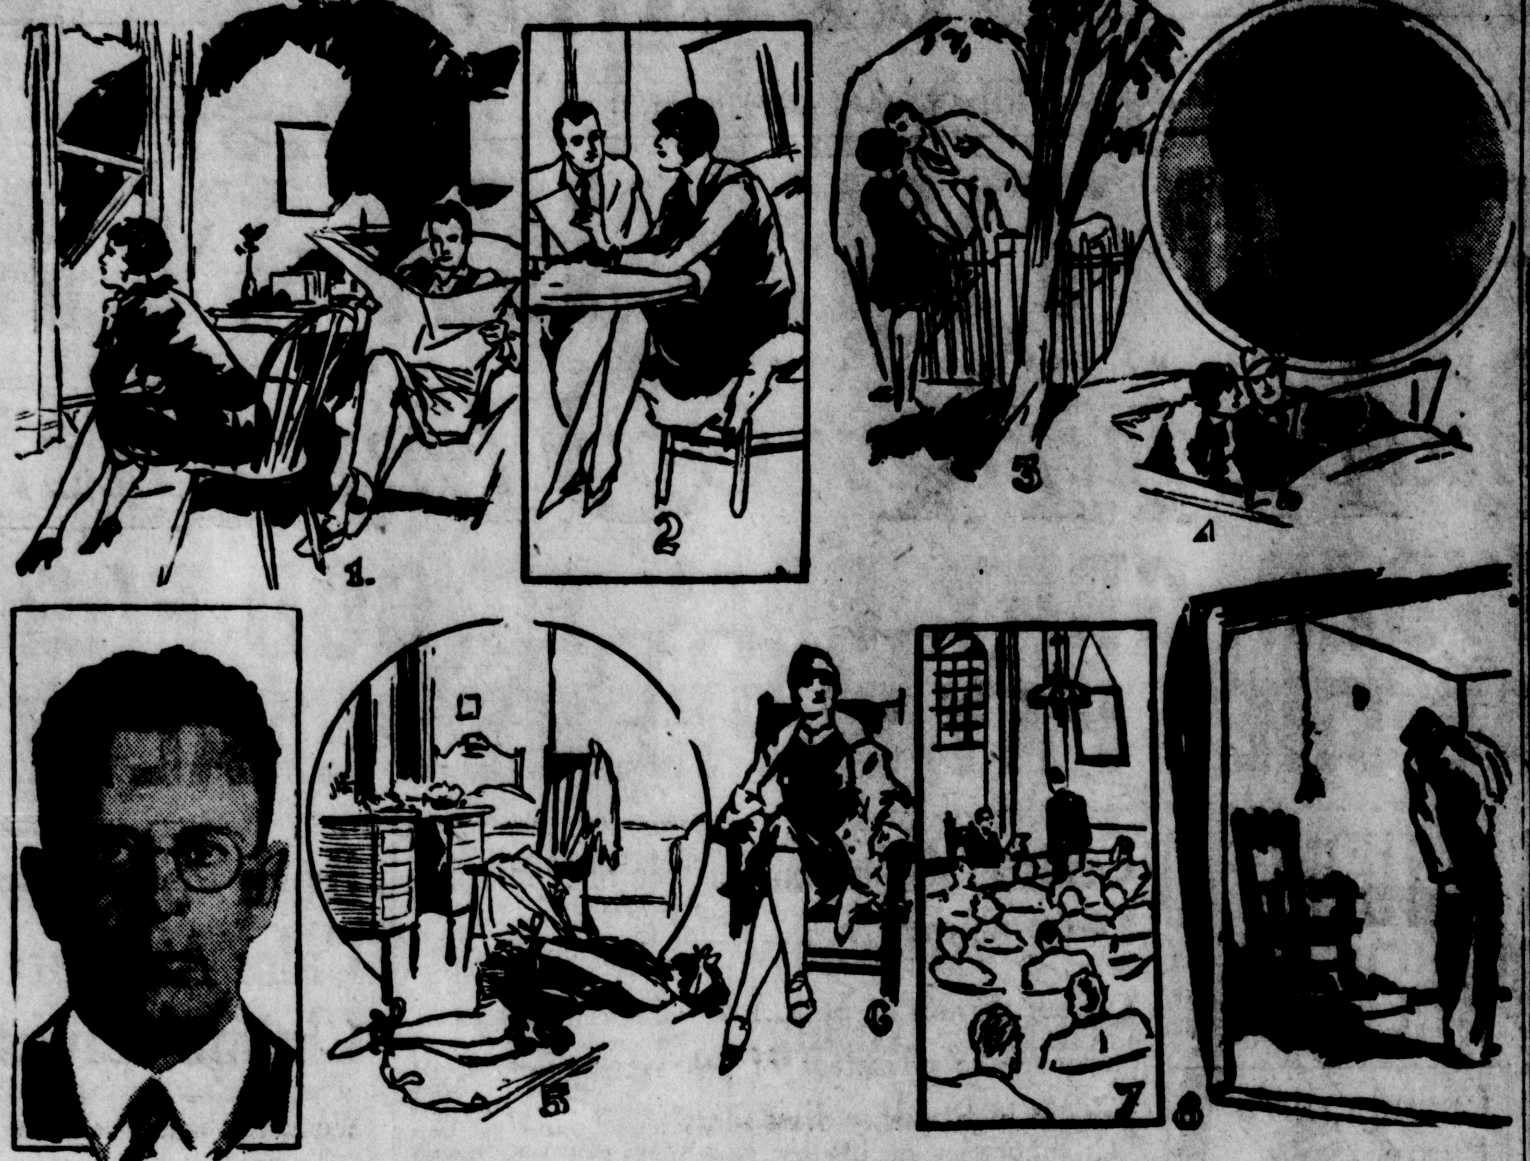
Picture Story Of Snyder-Gray Murder Case



Here is a picture story of the tragedy of Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, from its beginning to its end.

1—Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, liked to stay home evenings. Ruth, his wife, liked bright lights, music, dancing, crowds. She suffered boredom, while Snyder continued placidly unaware of it.

2—Ruth's boredom drove her to seek friends outside their own circle. In a New York restaurant she met Henry Judd Gray, corset salesman. It was a "pick-up" meeting; the two became fascinated by one another, and soon were intimate.

3—Gray, like Snyder, had led an uneventful life. He lived in a suburban home with his wife and daughter, and though his job required him to travel a good deal he never was known to go out with other women.

4—Ruth Snyder fascinated him, however. It was not long before the two began making trips together over week-ends, usually going by automobile. For a year and a half they continued this. Neither Albert Snyder nor Mrs. Gray, apparently, ever suspected the truth.

5—Caught in the toils of their mutual infatuation, the two plotted Snyder's death. Gray concealed himself in the Snyder home one night. Mrs. Snyder plied her husband with liquor; then, when he was asleep, she and Gray crept into his bedroom and killed him with a sash weight and a loop of picture wire. Gray then bound Mrs. Snyder and gagged her, so that the crime would appear to be the work of burglars, and left the house.

6—The police speedily broke down Mrs. Snyder's story and the two were arrested. Each testified at the trial, and each blamed the other. Mrs. Snyder's claim that Gray killed Snyder over her protests was not believed by the jury.

7—The courts refused to grant their pleas for a new trial. Each slayer was adjudged sane. Gov. Al Smith heard their final plea for clemency, which was based on the ground that, while sane, they had been rendered irresponsible by their mad infatuation for each other.

8—Then came the last act—electrocution in the death house at Sing Sing after Governor Smith denied their pleas.

[illegible] night.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Warden Lawes called the reporters into his office and gave them their final instructions.

"I don't like capital punishment," he said. "I don't enjoy it and I don't look on the procession any more than I have to.

"But understand me. Those are my personal views. I distinguish sharply between my personal views and my official duties. In fact, I lean backward to perform my duty strictly and keep my own views apart.

"I attend these executions, otherwise I would have to [illegible] another person to perform [illegible] duty and I prefer to do it myself."

He spoke of his last visit to the condemned.

"Mrs. Snyder was prepared for death," he said. "She bore it well. She said she was better prepared to go than when she was living the life she did before.

"Gray expressed his hope that his example would show other people the danger of steering wrong, so that they would change the rudder and keep off the rocks. He was calm and he was willing to

A WORD OF COMFORT

Because your heart is still heavy you hardly realize how much blacker the sky looked a while ago.

You promised yourself then "if I can climb out of this gloom I will do my best to dispel the darkness in others' lives; if I can find any comfort in my grief I shall devote myself to bringing consolation to my suffering friends."

Do you remember? You have a self-appointed task to perform from now on. The strange thing, too, is that you will not make much more progress yourself until you begin to keep these promises for others.

MORE COURSES PLANNED FOR S. A. COLLEGE

New courses in literature and composition will be offered this semester at the Santa Ana junior college, according to McKee Fisk, dean of the college. They will include three composition classes and four literature classes, under the direction of Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, T. H. Glenn, C. C. Stewart and Miss Agnes Miller.

A survey course in English literature which is a continuation of a course being given this semester will be presented by Mrs. Northcross. This course will include the reading of modern poetry as well as the study of representative modern British and American poets.

The modern drama class will be given under Mr. Glenn. Students in this class will study plays of present-day dramatists such as Ibsen, Wilde, Shaw, Yeats, Synge, Lady Gregory, Dunsany, O'Casey, Masefield, Rostand and Hauptman.

An American literature course will be given by Miss Miller which will include a consideration of the fore 1890. Writers to be studies fore 1890. Writers to be tudies are Irving, Emerson, Hawthorne, Poe, Mark Twain, and Whitman.

C. C. Stewart will be in charge of the new journalism class. He plans to put particular stress upon such phases of journalistic writing as the feature story, the human interest story, and the editorial. The best articles written in this class will be published in the "Don."

The composition courses are in remedial English, elementary composition, and advanced composition. These classes will be in charge of Miss Miller, Mrs. Northcross and Mr. Glenn.

Anyway They Eat Horses In Europe

RENO, Nev., Jan. 13.—"There, little horsey, don't you cry, "You'll be a beefsteak, by and by."

This comforting thought is held out to the thousands of wild horses roaming the vastnesses of Nevada, by a report of the state department of biological survey.

The animals are converted into meat in this country, and shipped to European nations for food, it was disclosed.

There is no law against selling horse meat for beefsteak on the continent, it was explained, but in the United States, horse meat cannot be sold unless it is so labeled.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headache, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin. The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT IS FORMED AT ANNUAL MEETING OF REFORESTATION COMMITTEE

Appointment of a committee to recommend plans for organization of a water conservation district to include the counties of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino, was one of the important actions taken at the annual meeting of the Tri-Counties Reforestation committee held at the Mission Inn in Riverside yesterday.

The personnel of the committee is J. Francis Cuttle, Riverside; H. C. Head, Santa Ana, and J. J. Pendergast, Redlands. Creation of the district will be under provisions of state laws. One of the duties of the committee will be to ascertain public sentiment for the district in the three counties.

John C. Tuffree, Placentia, was named as a member of the Orange county committee to succeed J. W. Newell, who resigned because of his intention of being out of the county a good portion of his time in the future.

Present at the meeting from Orange county were Head, S. H. Finley, Santa Ana; John Dunstan, Tustin; A. N. Saxton, Orange; A. Pierotti, Placentia; J. J. Dwyer, Anaheim; C. A. Palmer, Orange; G. W. Sherwood, Fullerton.

The Tri-Counties committee organized for the coming year by reelecting Francis Cuttle as chairman. Other officers are: G. W. Sherwood, recording secretary; W. B. Clancy, treasurer; and C. J. Kettering, corresponding secretary.

Forest Supervisor A. Nash-Boulden gave an interesting report on forest fires in the San Bernardino reserve for 1927.

There were 57 fires, 11,168 acres were burned over, and the cost of fire fighting was $40,000. The worst fire was that on Plunge creek. He gave high praise to the Sherman Institute Indians as fire fighters.

Boulden stated that the ultimate plans of the forest service contemplate the construction of 430 miles more of fire breaks in the San Bernardino mountains.

On motion of M. M. Randall of Highland a resolution was adopted protesting against the policy of the forest service in filing on springs for the use of cabin owners and camps when these springs feed streams that serve orange groves in the valley.

Randall claimed that filings had been made on springs that had supplied water to mutual water companies for 50 years or more.

More Water is Needed

President Cuttle in his annual report, stressed the importance of an increase in water supply for Southern California to keep pace with our steady increase in population. The report follows:

The counties of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange, in common with all of Southern California, are still confronted with a tremendous increase in population, without having in sight a means of securing a water supply for this increased population.

The estimate of population on January 1, 1928, shows an increase over 1920 federal census of 160 per cent in eleven cities in Los Angeles county; three cities in Orange county 316 per cent; Riverside (city) 72 per cent; San Bernardino (three cities) 112 per cent. While no figures have been obtained for the whole of the counties referred to, the increase in population in cities is indicative of the increase in population all over Southern California.

It should be remembered that there is no increase in sight in the water supply (with the exception of the Boulder canyon dam, which at best would be ten years away) to provide for this increase in population, notwithstanding that socalled "boosters" are claiming that California will eventually have have a population of 50,000,000 people. If these boosters will tell how and where to secure a supply of water for the increase in population, they will confer a great favor on the present population of the state.

Federal Aid

Data on work of constructing a fire protective system in the San Bernardino national forest will be furnished by S. A. Nash-Boulden, forest supervisor.

The funds for this work have come from the $100,000 appropriation by congress, $17,500 of which was allocated to the San Bernardino national forest and matched by local interests. We are just advised by U. S. Forester Colonel W. B. Greeley, that the present federal budget has an item of $125,000 as recommended by the administration, for continuation of the work on the four federal forests in Southern California.

There is no doubt that we can secure an increase in the amount allotted to San Bernardino national forest for the construction of a fire prevention system, provided we can raise the funds to match such increase, and that is a question that should have very careful attention of the members of this committee.

While it will probably never be possible to prevent fires, by the construction of a fire prevention system, the bisecting of the areas on our local watersheds with fire lanes and trails, will enable fire fighters to confine fires to smaller areas when they do occur.

State Aid

In accordance with his pre-election promises of substantial assistance for the protection of watershed cover and perpetuation of our forests, Governor Young agreed to include in his budget estimate of [illegible] for San Bernardino county and an item of $40,000 for other counties and agencies. While there is the condition that these state funds must be met by equal amounts from local interests to make them available, as is the case with federal appropriations, it would seem only fair that local interests should put up as much as the state is willing to appropriate for the protection of our [illegible] watersheds. This would place us in a strong position for securing additional state appropri[illegible] from succeeding administrations.

Forest Experiment Station

Investigative work is being carried on to determine the influence of the different type of cover on our watersheds, and the influence of same on water supply, under the appropriation secured from the federal government, supplemented by a $20,000 item in the state budget.

Nursery—Devil's Canyon

The young pines in the nursery have made a very substantial growth and there will be a good many thousand ready for planting at the proper time during the present spring. This, of course, is all in an experimental way, and while the results will be watched with interest, losses of trees may be expected from the fact that experiments will be tried with different kinds of trees, in all sorts of conditions, with a view of determining best species to plant and best methods of handling. No definite report is yet available on results of either of these undertakings, as sufficient time has not elapsed to get such results.

Santa Ana River Survey

Word has just been received from the office of the state engineer during the past few days, to the effect that while the survey may not be completed before the next session of the legislature, which convenes January 1, 1929, a progress report will be available sometime during the early summer of 1928, so that there will be ample time to decide how to best proceed and what sort of an organization should be perfected to put into effect the plans revealed by the survey, prior to the meeting of the legislature in 1929, at which time there will be an opportunity of taking up with the legislature the matter of financial co-operation.

Flood Control, Water Conservation

During the past season the Water Conservation association diverted and spread 14,418 acre feet of water. This was only a small percentage of the amount of water that came down the river, but unfortunately the rainfall was of such character as to create flood conditions, during which time it was impossible to divert water, and even if it could have been diverted, it would have been inadvisable to spread it for the reason that silt in the water would have filled up the gravels, thereby preventing the sinking of waters in these areas in the future. From 70,000 to 100,000 acre feet were lost in the ocean during the season of 1926-1927, illustrating the necessity for the construction of dams in the mountains to hold the peak of the flood and de-silt the water.

So far this season no water has been available for sinking purposes, but the rains have no doubt filled up the sources of supply to a greater degree than was the case last year, by reason of the lack of heavy rains, which create flood conditions instead of making it possible to conserve water.

Future Work

A resolution, adopted by the board of directors of the Water Conservation association relating to the securing of funds from local interests, which are affected by the water supply, for the cooperation with the federal and state governments, is as follows:

"Whereas, the Water Conservation association was incorporated by the users of water in the counties of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange, receiving their supply from Santa Ana river and its tributaries and said association was incorporated for the purpose of conserving the waters of the said river by spreading winter flood waters and by prevention of waste of artesian and sub-surface waters of said stream and its tributaries, etc.; and

"Whereas, the Tri-Counties Reforestation committee was organized for the general purpose of 'the better protection in the San Bernardino forest reserve . . . . the reforestation of all denuded areas and the reforesting of all areas not now covered with sufficient timber to conserve to best advantage the precipitation on said reserve;

"Be it resolved, That it is the sense of the members and directors of the Water Conservation association that the activities of said association should be confined to the actual spreading of water and the prevention of waste, as provided in its articles of incorporation and by-laws; Be it further resolved, That it is the sense of the directors of the Water Conservation association that there is great necessity for the prevention of fire, and of reforestation and afforestation on the said watershed, which would be of great benefit to the water users of the three counties of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange, as such protection of the watersheds would enable the Water Conservation association to better and more successfully carry on the work of water conservation and prevention of waste: Be it further

"Resolved, That the directors of the Water Conservation association respectfully suggest to the members of the Tri-Counties Reforestation committee that said committee enlarge its scope of activities to take in all watersheds in the three counties of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange, and that it undertake all co-operative work between the federal government, state government, and local interested parties, in securing funds and utilizing the same in co-operation with all other agencies which can be induced to cooperate to obtain the very best protection of the growth on said watershed from fire, and to secure at as early a date as possible as complete a cover as may be practicable upon the said watersheds, to the end that no water shall be wasted, but that all precipitation falling on said watershed shall be conserved and applied to beneficial use."

Lists of parties who are affected by the condition of the water supply in the three counties have been secured and it is recommended that all of these parties be seen at an early date and solicited for funds to match the federal and state funds, appropriated, for completing a fire prevention system in our local watersheds.

While the federal funds must be used through the federal agencies, the Water Conservation association has a competent working force, which could be used during the summer for the construction of fire lanes and trails on the co- [illegible] federal forests and cultivated areas. This is a prolific source for the origin of fires, which are [illegible] and frequently run from low foothills up over higher mountains.

[illegible] the national forests, could be built to conform to the fire lines in the national forests [illegible] about the best possible results.

Thrift News for the Family Budget

Low Prices That Every Keen Shopper Will Appreciate

Do You Live In Never-Never Land

Does your family, too, live on the borders of Never-Never Land? Are you never quite out of debt, never quite caught up with the stack of monthly bills, never able to resist the whim of the moment and say firmly, "I won't charge it. I'll wait until I can pay cash and then see if I want it as much as I think I do."

Never-Never Land can be a very disturbing and worrysome place to build a home. Its citizens have tired eyes and dreary lines about the mouth that all of their finery won't eradicate.

Better follow the solid road of Pay-As-You-Go which insures freedom of mind and eventual independence: Buying only what you need and putting the savings obtained thru cash purchases into a home or bank account is the better plan. You can then enjoy life undisturbed by thoughts of what would happen if your earning capacity should suddenly cease and charge accounts come due. It is the difference between success and failure.

AUTOIST TO PLEAD HERE JANUARY 20

L. C. Hallberg, Long Beach, appeared today before Superior Judge E. J. Marks when Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodget filed two informations against him, charging him with manslaughter and with failure to stop and render aid.

Hallberg originally was accused of the murder of Myrtle Jewell, 29, Artesia, as a result of an automobile accident near Los Alamitos December 7. Mrs. Jewell was killed when the car she was driving collided headon with a machine said to have been driven by Hallberg.

The time for entering his pleas to each charge was set for January 20.

Thief Writes In To Deny Report

MERCED, Calif., Jan. 13.—Evidence that even thieves are not without honor came in a letter to the sheriff's office here from a burglar who claimed he was grossly misjudged.

"I enclose a clipping from a newspaper," he wrote, "which says that $60 in groceries and $10 in cash were taken from a Merced store.

"I beg to assure you gentlemen that this is a d——— lie. I took only $5.07 in cash, a fountain pen and a ruby which is of no use to me. So here it is."

The ruby, bearing the emblem of a fraternal organization, was enclosed in the letter.

GOODWIN BACK IN SANTA ANA FOR NEW TRIAL

that came into play in my case. They couldn't hang me," he explained today when asked what he thought of a new trial.

Goodwin did not talk of the case today. He wasn't asked to. Instead, he talked of his stay at San Quentin. He talked of theories, concerning capital punishment and of many interesting things that he saw while in the death house. He was content to do so, because so far as he is concerned, it is only a matter of time until he will be a free man again, he said.

"I have learned a great deal, and taking all the circumstances in view, I had rather a good time at San Quentin," he said.

Three Cell Mates Die

While there, he saw five men go to their deaths. Three of them were his cell mates. Two others, scheduled to die at the time, were commuted at the last minute.

"When I get out, I am making my life's work the abolition of capital punishment," Goodwin declared. "The reason for that is that I have seen them go, and not one of them weakened. Not a one of them believed the were the ones being punished. They all believed that it is those that are left, the mothers, the sisters and the families, that do the real suffering. Put a man behind the bars and keep him there for the remainder of his life—that is real punishment, but to hang him, that is nothing. It is over in a few minutes, and the families are the real sufferers," the priest said.

Did Not Worry

While in San Quentin's death house, just removed from the fatal 13 steps that lead to the gallows and which threatened him all the time, day in and day out, Phil Goodwin did not worry, he said. "I did not worry and I did all I could to keep the other fellows from worrying. In my case a higher law than the one on this earth ruled, and I tried to make the other fellows see the same thing," he said.

While there he received 1984 letters in 12 months time, from all parts of the United States. In those letters there were checks for $5200, the priest said.

"I got caught up on my reading, sleeping and my writing and now if I can get caught up on my liberty, it won't be such a bad world after all," he said.

Reads 300 Books

Goodwin said he read 300 books during the 13 months he was in the death house. On 200 of these he made marginal notations. On top of that, he wrote for numerous newspapers and magazines, he declared, managing to make money in this venture.

The number 13, so prominent in every step of the famous case, continued to follow Goodwin today, when he made his first reappearance in the Orange county court room where he heard himself sentenced to be hanged, today—the 13th of January. On top of that, it is Friday. But Fridays and 13s mean little to Goodwin. "It is my lucky sign," he said.

Famous Thirteens

The famous thirteens in the Goodwin case to date are:

At the time of the murder he lived at 1313 Crown Hill, Los Angeles; the murder was alleged to have been committed on March 13, 1926; there are 13 letters in his name; there are 13 letters in the name of the man who was the state's star witness, Albert D. Gaines, who himself was convicted of the same murder and sentenced to life imprisonment in Folsom prison; Goodwin was in New York 13 weeks after the murder, before he was arrested; he waited in New York 13 days before being returned to California; when he arrived he found a bouquet of flowers at the jail from a woman friend. It contained 13 roses; peoples' exhibit No. 13, was the skull of the murdered man, there were 13 jurors in the box when the priest was tried; after conviction, he left Santa Ana on November 13, for the death house; stay of execution was granted on January 13, 1927; the decision of the supreme court giving the priest a new trial came December 1, 1927, the first day of the 13th month in the death house. Today, the 13th, he came back into court for the first time. He was in San Quentin 13 months.

No arraignment Today

Judge Marks was too busy today to arraign the dapper little priest. He set the arraignment for next Monday morning at 10 o'clock. It would have been impossible to set the arraignment today however, because Goodwin's attorneys, from San Francisco, were not present at the time. District Attorney Z. B. West jr., and his chief criminal deputy, Lew Blodget, appeared for the state.

charge. He was returned to the bastile after Kaufman announced that a charge of sale would be filed against him.

A large amount of credit is being given today to Deputy Sheriff Bob Sandon, who has been one of the most active officers among the raiders, especially in uncovering stills.

The following appeared before Morrison today on charges of sale, bail being set at $1000.

Al Heather, 28, and Rudy Goetz, 26, both of Delhi; Bill Smith, 42, Olive rancher; John Pike, 29, 916 East Washington street, Santa Ana; Peter Garretson, cafe owner, San Juan Capistrano; William Duncan, 52, service station manager, 512 East Walnut street, Santa Ana; J. L. Putman, 68, Buena Park; Vernon "Shorty" Myers, 40, one of the owners of the Blue Moon Inn, on the Anaheim-Santa Ana road; Frank Newman, 49, cafe owner, Capistrano Beach; Frank O'Campo, 39, 1320 Logan street, Santa Ana; Chris Saldana, 1919 West Third street; Mrs. Rita Quinonez, 46, 813 North English street, Santa Ana, and Ewald Offerman, 32, Anaheim.

Jury Trials Asked

Jury trials were asked by all defendants who appeared before Morrison on possession accusations Bail was set at $500 in each case. Not guilty pleas were entered in every instance.

Earl Todd, 514 South Kroeger street, Anaheim, pleaded not guilty to possession. His trial was set for January 31. The same date was named for the hearing of Albert Goeder, 42, Atwood, charged with possession. Adolph Meger, 42, Anaheim, held on the same charge, will be tried January 25. Charles Biere, 606 East First street, charged with possession, will be tried February 9. Paul Glory, 25, Serra, accused of possession, will be tried January 24. D. Lymburner, 44, Buena Park, will be tried February 1, while Mrs. Al Goeder, Atwood, will be tried January 31 on possession charges.

K. Matsu, 40, Japanese hotel man, Los Angeles, and Tom Oye, 25, Los Angeles, were arrested and placed in jail today facing charges of possession.

eration of Women's Clubs failed to take expected action yesterday.

It was pointed out that the women might defeat their own aims if the resolution was passed, inasmuch as the 40,000 women represented by the delegates might be barred from jury duty and a change of venue gained upon this grounds.

Attorneys for Welby Hunt were to appear before Judge Carlos Hardy late today to argue a motion for the severance of the indictment charging Hunt and Hickman with the murder of C. Ivy Toms, Rose Hill druggist.

Clubwomen Demand Hanging For Hickman

ONTARIO, Calif., Jan. 13.—Women's organizations of San Bernardino county prepared today to take individual action following the voting of a resolution by the San Bernardino county Federation of Women's Clubs demanding that no leniency be shown William Edward Hickman.

The resolution was passed at a meeting of 60 delegates of the federation in the Mountain View schoolhouse late yesterday and the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank P. Meserve, of Colton, was preparing today to send copies to District Attorney Asa Keyes, at Los Angeles.

have been made by a skilled surgeon. The clothing had been stripped from her body and scattered through a ravine.

Posses Scour Region

Today posses, in which private citizens advanced shoulder to shoulder with state troopers, county sheriffs and city police, spread in all directions from the scene of the crime.

So great was the city's revulsion at the atrocious crime that many of the search parties were private ventures, organized and led by professional men, merchants and workers from Flint's automobile factories.

Clubwomen viewed Dorothy's body and several told Sheriff Green that they would be willing to aid in the execution of the man responsible.

The killer would escape death even though captured and convicted. Capital punishment was outlawed in Michigan years ago.

Clew Given By Farmer

The best clew to the identity of the wanted man was furnished by Archie Bacon, a farmer who lives near the spot where the body was found and who assisted the suspected man to get his car out of the mud hole after he had disposed of the body.

Bacon said the man appeared to be about 50 years old, was five feet, 10 inches tall and weighed nearly 200 pounds. He was stooped slightly, Bacon recalled, of light complexion and full faced. He wore a fur cap and a gray overcoat.

hood was pulled over his head.

Preparations were started immediately for the return of his body to San Francisco.

Had Iron Nerve

The studied calm and iron nerve which characterized his demeanor during the trial, in which he was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Emily Patterson, did not fail Nelson as he met his doom.

"I declare my innocence before God and man," he said in a clear, strong voice. "I forgive those who have injured me and I ask pardon of those I have injured. May the Lord have mercy on my soul."

Dominion Hangman Arthur Ellis pulled the lever and Nelson dropped with a crash.

agree with California and Nevada on distribution of water and power.

"It will be very disappointing to me if the three states fail to carry on negotiations."

Emerson regretted a letter written by Governor Hunt, of Arizona, to the committee, recently, declaring the states would have to suspend negotiations until the Swing-Johnson bill was sidetracked.

Representative White, Democrat, Colorado, interrupted to say that Hunt was a "reasonable man" and that the letter should not be taken too literally.

H. C. McCluskey, representing the Arizona commission, admitted to the committee he had remarked to H. B. Matthews, a Californian, that the states are farther apart now than ever.

An amendment to the Johnson bill, authorizing the secretary of interior to construct a $12,000,000 flood control dam at any suitable place on the lower Colorado river, was introduced in the senate today by Senator Phipps, Republican, Colorado.

The only specification mentioned was that the dam should be 500 feet high and that it should be constructed at Black canyon, Boulder canyon or any other spot the secretary selects.

L. A SALESMAN IS ARRESTED IN S. A.

Booked at the county jail on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, G. D. White, 48, salesman, of 673 West Thirty-Fourth street, Los Angeles, was arrested here yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriffs Carter and Buckles.

COURT JUDGES ARE GUESTS OF LEGIONNAIRES

Three superior court judges were honor guests at the first 1928 meeting of the Santa Ana post, American Legion, held last night at the Legion home on Birch street. More than 100 members of the post were present.

Judge James L. Allen, of superior court No. 3, Judge E. J. Marks, superior court No. 2, and Judge Homer Ames, of superior court No. 1, all were present and all made short talks following a dinner served at 6:30 p. m. by the Legion's auxiliary.

Entertainment consisted of Harry Judson and his Bear Cafe entertainers, an orchestra, and a line of girls in several dance numbers from the Yost Broadway theater.

Legion men voted to go in a body to the San Fernando veterans' hospital on the night of February 8, and the three superior court judges asked that they be allowed to accompany the Santa Ana post on the trip.

Busses will be hired for the occasion and 100 members of the post are expected to make the trip.

It was announced by Charles Van Wyk, commander, that the first meeting in February would see the state commander, Phil Dodson, as honor guest here. Plans for this meeting are being made now and it is expected to be one of the largest meetings ever held by Legion men here, Van Wyk said.

CITY COUNCILS OF COUNTY TO ORGANIZE SOON

Permanent organization of the Orange County Association of City Councils will be perfected at a meeting of the various councils of the county to be held at the city hall, Orange, Wednesday evening, January 18, according to a statement today by L. F. Coburn, of Orange, secretary of a meeting of councilmen held at the city hall in Santa Ana recently.

By reason of misunderstanding as to place and date of the meeting held here, representatives were not present from Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, Brea, La Habra and Laguna Beach. The conference here was called for the purpose of completing the organization, which was initiated at a meeting held in Huntington Beach some weeks ago, but action was deferred for one week because of the small representation present.

In discussing the possibilities of such an organization, C. G. Boster, mayor of Huntington Beach, pointed out it would offer opportunity for discussing mutual problems that confront the city governing bodies constantly.

Decision was made to include city clerks, city attorneys and city engineers in the list of those eligible to membership, and Secretary Coburn was directed to invite these city officials to become identified with the association.

BEST LEMON CROP IN YEARS FORECAST AT ANNUAL MEET OF CENTRAL ASSOCIATION

VILLA PARK, Jan. 13.—Assembling to elect officers and for the transaction of other business, the Central Lemon association, the largest lemon association in the world, met yesterday for its 15th annual meeting at the packing plant at Villa Park.

The proposal to operate the association on a two-pool plan instead of the one-pool which now exists, was discussed at length. Following arguments for and against both plans, all motions were withdrawn and a motion was made and carried that left the problem with the board of directors for solution.

At the close of the session the same directors were re-elected from the floor, a motion having been made to have the secretary cast the vote for them. These directors and officers are: President, Dr. W. M. Poppywell; vice president, H. T. Thompson; secretary, Roy Rumnels; assistant secretary, L. A. Stevenson; assistant secretary, J. F. Allen; representative from the Central Lemon association on board of Orange County Fruit exchange, W. H. Flippen; representative from Central Lemon association on Orange County Fumigation company, H. T. Thompson. Officers were elected by directors.

Annual Report

The annual report submitted by the secretary and manager, showed that the association experienced an excellent year with the returns for all fruit, excepting culls, which will be paid in 1928, totaling 353,398.94.

The shipments totaled 323 cars of 400 box capacity. The averages per hundred pounds on first grade fruit was $3.58; second grade $2.45; tree ripe 93 cents, making a general average on the graded and tree ripe fruit of $2.38.

Picking and hauling averaged 21.74 cents per field box.

The first paper was presented by the president of the association, Dr. W. M. Poppywell, who discussed the lemon crop of the past year in comparison with the crops of other years. Dr. Poppywell stated that the last year had seen a distinct problem, with lemons 40 to 60 days early and the yield one-third larger than that normally consumed by the United States and Canada.

Added to this, he said, had been the cool summer in the east. "A corn summer is a lemon summer, from a selling standpoint," Dr. Poppywell stated. "The cool spring and late summer in the east made the sale of lemons slow. In the meantime the Central Lemon association had a force of 300 pickers and packers at work."

The profits to the grower this year, Dr. Poppywell said he considered due to the shippers' agreement which prevents the flooding and starving of the lemon market, as this agreement authorizes sales departments to promote selling and shipments in proportion to the stored fruit in each house. In 1924, he declared, 532 cars of lemons had been shipped with $294,337.47 returns to the growers and with the agreement not in effect, in the past year, under the working of the agreement, 323 cars had been shipped with $58,000 more than the previous sum in returns to the growers.

The speaker said that the present outlook for this year's crop of lemons was the best in four years with a heavy set that promises to mature at the right time for the best results.

He said that the organization had been working smoothly and that the addition of Tustin to the exchange had been accomplished during the year.

Dr. Poppywell was followed by John F. Allen, field manager of the Central Lemon association, who stated that every year, in spite of the fact that the wages and salaries remained the same, the cost of picking was growing less with production increasing.

There are 1400 or 1500 acres of lemons in the association, 325 growers, 343 trees to a grower, these trees being scattered all over Orange county and numbering 11,171, he said. He gave the percentage of picked fruit shipped as highest in the month of May when 21 per cent was shipped and lowest in September when but 2 per cent was shipped.

E. B. Collier, city manager of Santa Ana, and for 11 years secretary and manager of the Central Lemon association, greeted his former associates with a friendly talk.

Roy Runnells, secretary and manager of the association, traced a box of lemons from the time it is picked from the tree to the time it starts its journey to the east or south or north.

Following the banquet, served by the Ladies' Aid society of Villa Park at noon and which was concluded by lemon pie, the session was resumed.

E. G. Dezell, of Los Angeles, general manager of the California Growers' exchange, was the first speaker of the afternoon. He stated that the season last year began with too many cars of lemons in storge but that the net profits to the grower had only been exceeded once in the history of the industry.

Cotton Conditions

Recently returned from the south, Mr. Dezell spoke of conditions there as very encouraging and the agricultural outlook in the middle west as very good, the condition of both of the sections having a distinct bearing on the lemon industry. The cotton growers, he declared, were less in debt than they had ever been before, and the people of the Mississippi were expecting action on flood control which would make work for many.

H. M. May of Corona, manager of the lemon by-products plant at that place, told of the volume of business done this year, which necessitated the equipping of another plant.

Mr. Dezell said the best citrus crop from a point of returns to grower was promised for 1928.

He spoke of the by-products plant at Corona as the back garden of the industry that had returned in checks, $1,000,000 to the growers in 1927. Typical amount of fruit handled there, he said to be 12,000 ton. In 1926 50,000 tons were handled and in 1927, 80,000 tons.

By-products produced here are lemon oil, citrus acid and pectin. Mr. May stated that the market for pectin was being developed rapidly and the market eager.

Roy Runnells, secretary of the association in an interesting paper, said:

'At this time I wish to express my appreciation to the board of directors for their confidence which they have expressed by electing me to manage the affairs of this successful association, which has been built up under the management of Mr. Collier until it occupies an enviable position with the exchange and its customers.

Compliments Heads

"The heads of the different departments are to be complimented for the work which they have done in conducting the affairs of the association for the past year and all those who have loyally worked for the better conduct of the business we owe our thanks.

"The success of the organization as a whole depends upon the loyalty shown by the growers. There will always be grievances, either real or imaginary, between the individuals and the organization, that can nearly always be straightened out to the satisfaction of everyone by a little hearrt to heart talk. I expect to get into your groves and meet all the growers and become better acquainted, but would ask that each of you come to the office as often as convenient and become better acquainted with the operation of the packing house and those whom your board of directors have chosen to conduct your business.

"While we feel that the shippers' agreement must be modified to make it equitable to all associations, we must give it credit for enabling us to market a percentage of our fruit at a very satisfactory F. O. B. price. The amount of fruit picked this year was practically the same as for 1923-24. That year we were not working under any pro-rate agreement and we shipped a much larger percentage of our production, but the returns to the growers were 25 cents per hundred pounds less on all fruit delivered to the packing house, or a difference of $60,000.

"During the season we have installed a grading and packing belt at a cost of $3600 which will reduce our packing expenses approximately three cents per packed box.

"We also installed a water softener at a cost of $450 which reduces the amount of soap powder necessary to clean the fruit by 50 per cent and does a better job of cleaning, and by using less soap we will prolong the life of brushes used in the washers and effect a slight saving."

ARRESTED HERE FOR OFFICERS IN TEXAS

Wanted in Brownsville, Tex., as a fugitive from justice, Carl McDermott, 22, was arrested here yesterday afternoon by Herman Zabel, and is being held in the county jail for officers from the Texas city, to return him there for trial.

According to meager information concerning the case, McDermott is wanted on a swindling charge, according to a telegram received from the sheriff there.

The youth was arrested on information obtained by the sheriff's office that he was here. He has refused to waive extradition papers, Zabel said.

SING SING WARDEN ASSERTS HE FAVORS LIFE SENTENCES FOR CONVICTED MURDERERS

By LEWIS E. LAWES

Warden of Sing Sing Prison

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The most horrible crime that can be committed is the killing of a human being, and, likewise, the most horrible punishment that can be imposed is the killing of a human being; the first, the community could not prevent; the second is accomplished with premeditation and deliberation.

Most of us who take sides on the question of capital punishment do so instinctively, without ever questioning ourselves as to the reasons we feel as we do. We form an opinion early in life, and we cling to it, never obliging ourselves to re-examine our reasons for our belief.

Why is there so much interest in capital punishment at present? It is due to the awakening of the public to danger in the growing murder rate. I used to believe strongly in the social necessity of capital punishment. Now I do not.

Some weeks after assuming the office of warden of Sing Sing prison, I was directed by name and official title to kill a designated human being. It was my duty to determine the day, in fact, the exact hour and minute death should occur. This gruesome task caused me to seek all obtainable facts relating to capital punishment, not only in America, but in all civilized countries of Europe.

I found that the fundamental theory of punishment is that it is used for deterrence, for retribution and for reformation, and, in the case of capital punishment, there is a further basis urged for its retention—the need of eliminating those who menace the life and security of society.

Reformation, obviously, cannot be attributed to the use of the death penalty.

The argument that capital punishment is necessary as a process of elimination is faulty; it is unscientific in its application.

The idea of punishment of any type solely as retribution is gradually disappearing. History condemns capital punishment. It must not be forgotten that the death penalty has been tried before on a colossal scale, judged, and found wanting.

Life Imprisonment

There is no room for sentimentality in dealing with the subject of capital punishment, but death fades into insignificance when compared with life imprisonment. To spend each night in jail, day after day, year after year, gazing at the bars and longing for freedom, is indeed expiation.

Executions, like war, brutalize men; the more that take place, the greater the number there is to execute. The man about to die becomes a hero.

The executed man passes quickly from the mind, while the criminal in life imprisonment remains as a living symbol of the awful consequences of an awful act.

The United States is a nation that leads the world in scientific progress, that boasts achievement in the adjustment of industrial relations, in dealing with complex social and welfare problems, yet hangs its head in shame at ten thousand homicidal deaths each year.

In the face of this, why do we cling blindly to capital punishment? In spite of many signs which point to its positive failure as a deterrent, why do we retain our faith in its efficacy?

One in 80 Executed

Why do we believe that a punishment applied to one of every eighty homicidal crimes will deter others? It is an actual fact that where the murders are numbered by the thousands, those who go to the chair or the scaffold are numbered by the tens. Even in England, statistics show that less than five per cent of homicidal crimes results in imposition of the death penalty. People say that capital punishment might deter it if it were enforced. The point is that until the characteristics of mankind change, it can never be enforced. The reasons for this are human elements that cannot be overcome or eradicated. That is why, as a punishment, the death penalty will always remain a failure. The causes of crime are economic and sociological with roots far deeper than mere punishment can hope to affect. We find that whatever deterrence there is in punishment lies in its certainty, not in its severity. If the solution is severity, we are illogical if we stop short of its limits.

I am not asking that we abandon a scheme of punishment that is in successful operation. We have capital puishment and have had it for generations, yet we have a high homicide rate in shameful contrast to the rest of the civilized world. We are just as far today from a successful solution of the homicide problem as we have ever been.

If capital punishment is a succes, if it is a deterrent, why was it that when England had 240 capital offenses, and, later, in Blackstone's time, 160, crime was far more prevalent than it is today?

In England, as late as 1820, the following acts were punishable by death: Gypsies remaining in the kingdom one month; unlawfully killing, hunting or stealing deer; unlawfully stealing fish out of any pond; injuring of Westminster bridge or any bridge; cutting down or destroying growing trees; sending threatening letters.

Most of the American colonies made twelve offenses capital. Connecticut made blasphemy a capital offense, also for a child over 16 who would curse or smite its parent.

Witches Executed in America

In Massachusetts, 20 witches were executed in the short space of eight months. When they quit killing witches, ceased to exist. It has been said that witches really did not exist, but that the murderer is a real menace. The point is that the community thought it necessary to exterminate both.

In England, in 1830, a petition was signed and presented to Parliament by 1000 bankers from 214 towns, stating that they found, by experience, that infliction of death or even the possibility of death prevents the prosecution, conviction and punishment of the criminal and thus endangers the property it is intended to protect, and, therefore, requested that forgery be removed from capital cases.

Why did pickpockets, for whom detection meant death, ply their trade at public hangings in the very sight of the gallows?

Why do states which have the most legal executions also have the greatest number of homicides in proportion to population?

Why do those states where lynchings are most frequent also have the greatest number of murders?

Murders in Prison

If the fear of death is a deterrent, why is it that a man will commit murder even in prison where the chances of escaping detection are one in ten thousand?

What explanation is there of the fact that several counties in New York state had no murder convictions for a number of years, some of them for long periods, yet when the first conviction for murder occurred with the subsequent execution of the murderer at Sing Sing, it was immediately followed by a number of murders?

I ask that others will bring to this problem an open and unbiased mind, will ask themselves these questions and answer them without prejudice. I find that those who have given real study to the subject usually favor the abolition of the death penalty.

NEW OAKLAND-N. Y. AIR LINE PLANNED

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 13.—Palatial planes, leaving Oakland at dusk, soaring up over the Sierras, across the sagebrush country of Nevada and on to New York 30 hours later, are planned by the Boeing Air Transport company, according to W. H. Herron, president.

The company holds the air mail contract between Oakland and Chicago.

Luxurious air liners will follow a lighted lane eastward. Inauguration of night flying from Oakland airport will change the flying schedule to New York from two days and a night to two nights and a day, Herron said.

The new ships to be used in the service are being constructed at the Boeing plant in Seattle, the president said.

The planes will have a wing spread of 82 feet and will be equipped with three motors. Each will cost $30,000 according to Herron. Reclining chairs, a buffet and electric lighting and heating equipment also are planned.

(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 13—Rumblings of discontent in the ranks of California physicians were being heard at the state capitol today.

The trouble arose over the proposal to place them in the same category with barbers under the new proposed state department of "professional" or "occupational" standards.

Barbering isn't a profession, the medicos snorted, while the tonsorialists insisted, "It's as much a profession as surgery. We both cut things up, don't we?"

All joking aside, though, A. R. Heron, director of the department of finance, who is now busily engaged in preparing measures for the 1929 legislature which would create two new state departments, may be called upon to act the role of peacemaker in the impending row.

Heron is hoping to avert any clash, though ,by framing bills that will satisfy both factions.

The other department would be that of "Business relations." As originally planned, it was to have been known as the department of commerce. Directors of both departments would be seated in the governor's council. Under the head of business relations would fall the divisions of banking, insurance, building and loan supervision, corporations, and real estate.

Addition of these two new departments would reduce independent agencies in the state government from 112 in 1919 to only 11 in 1929, according to Heron.

"Boards of professional standards have three functions in common," declared Heron. "These are setting up standards, directing examinations, and sitting as a judicial body on violations. However, the functions common to executives of all state boards are collecting of fees and issuing of receipts and licenses."

Agencies under the proposed new department of occupational standards are the boards of accountancy, barber examiners, cosmetology, detective licensing, medical examiners, osteopathic examiners, pilot commissioners, architecture, chiropractic examiners, dental examiners, embalmers, optometry, pharmacy and veterinary medicine examiners.

The new state board of bar examiners was originally to have been placed under this new department, but its functions were taken over by the newly-created self-governing bar board of California.

Regulation of nurses, now being conducted under the state board of health, will likely be transferred to the new department, under the proposed law.

Would-Be Voters Must Re-Register

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 14.—Every man and woman who wishes to cast ballots in the federal, state and district elections in California this year, must re-register.

The registration lists expired at midnight, December 31, and the books were opened for registration January 3.

TUBERCULOSIS IS CURED WITH NEW DISCOVERY

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 13.—Development of the "pneumo thorax" treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, virtually has done away with the "hopeless" cases of the white plague, physicians here are agreed.

"The layman still things that treatment of tuberculosis is according to the old formula of 'fresh air, rest and nourishment,' but modern surgical methods are revolutionizing old ideas with spectacular results," said Dr. I. D. Bronfin, of the National Jewish hospital.

Bronfin referred to the pneumo thorax treatment. At Fitzsimmons hospital where hundreds of ex-service men bravely are struggling to regain healthy lungs shattered by poison gas in France, the treatment is used more extensively than anywhere in the United States.

Pneumo thorax, the physicians explained, means deflation of the infected portion of the lung. Its use is based on the fact that only one-eleventh of the normal lung area functions to keep a man alive.

This is done by introducing air gas, gauze packing or parafin into the pleural cavity, between the chest wall and the lung.

Another means of obtaining the same result is by severing or partially paralyzing the phrenic nerve, controlling the diaphram. The muscle balloons upward against the lower lobe of the lung.

When inflammation causes adhesions to the chest wall preventing deflation, an instrument with an arrangement of lights and mirrors is inserted.

With this the surgeon examines the lung cavity, watches the lung breathe and spots the adhesions which are cut with a red hot wire. When ravages of the disease have brought large cavities in the lung tissue, portions of the ribs are removed and the cavity is packed with parafin.

G. AND L. LEASE

G. AND L. LEASE, Jan. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ross and their house guest, Mrs. W. I. Withrow, motored to Pomona Tuesday and were dinner guests of David Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pope and Mr. and Mrs. John Clagg spent Monday in Newport.

L. F. Temley has purchased the W. L. White house here and will move in their new home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Daum, of Hollywood, are the guests of their niece, Mrs. Frank Richards, for a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Garf Tloy are down from Fillmore for a few days visit here with relatives.

Mrs. Ella Smith and daughter, Miss Joe, were in Santa Ana on business Wednesday.

Mrs. Ruth Wymer and two little sons, of Long Beach, were here Wednesday for the day with relatives.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Jan. 13.—Miss Ruth Andersen, trained nurse of Riverside, was a guest Wednesday of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Brunemeier and Mrs. Lora Butzback.

Mrs. Mary Dent is home again after a few days stay with her daughter, Miss Juanita Dent, in Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Farrar came home Wednesday from a week's stay with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Cober, in Santa Monica. Mr. Farrar is quite ill.

The Social circle of the Presbyterian church will meet Friday at the home of Mrs. Anna Lemke on Valencia avenue.

Gas in the Stomach Is Truly Dangerous

Gas, Pain, Bloating and a feeling of fullness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

Too much acid irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic Gastritis and dangerous Ulcers. Food ferments and sours, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the heart.

It is genuine folly to neglect such a condition or to treat with artificial digestive aids that cannot neutralize the stomach acid. A better way is to get from your druggist some Bisurated Magnesia (powder or tablets) and take a little after each meal. This famous but simple and inexpensive stomach sweetener and anti-acid can be depended upon to prove its value in less than five minutes. In most instances, relief comes instantly! Pleasant and perfectly harmless to use—Bisurated Magnesia does give wonderful relief in nine out of ten cases. Ask your Doctor or Druggist.—Adv.

AUTOISTS RUNS DOWN POSSUM ON SYCAMORE

If possum loving residents of Santa Ana will promise not to besiege him with requests for dinner invitations, J. H. Sewell, insurance man, 806 South Sycamore, is welling to have the story told, he finally admitted today. But he thought it might be better to wait until after he and his nearby friends have had a little neighborly party.

However, he feels that the rare treat of curling his tongue about a bit of possum meat may be over before the rush begins. The neighbors will be invited to do a bit of curling, too. In fact one of them may be entrusted with the responsibility of cooking Sewell's possum, he intimated, but refused to divulge any names.

He thought the two bright eyes he saw in the middle of the street Wednesday night belonged to a cat. But felines, being well versed in traffic rules, would have stepped aside at the approach of a car, he believes. Furthermore the usual tabby does not have a long, hairless tail, he recalled, after he had run over the animal's nose and had discovered it still lying in the street.

Sewell is not a hit and run driver, and so he stopped to offer the possum a lift in his car. He was not far from his home, where he took the delicacy for first aid treatment. It is now doing nicely, he reported, though it glances about a bit wistfully for a persimmon tree now and then.

He has not announced the date of the dinner party, but will try to arrange it as early as possible, he said, before his circle of friends in Santa Ana becomes too large.

SPRINGDALE

SPRINGDALE, Jan. 13.—The derrick for Buck No. 5 has gone up and installation of machinery will begin soon.

The derrick on the McFarlain lease, where drilling for oil was abandoned, is being torn down.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham spent Sunday at San Pedro, where they were guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Graham. Walter Graham, who is assistant engineer on the fire patrol boat of the San Pedro fire department, took them on a tour of inspection of the harbor and of his boat.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Roberson had as Sunday guests in their home, Linn DeBarr and Miss Olive Leeper, of Los Angeles, cousins of Mrs. Roberson. In the afternoon they were joined by Mrs. Mary Butcher and Miss Nina Marine, nurses from Anaheim. Tuesday afternoon Mr .and Mrs. Roberson had as visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Whitney and Miss Butts, of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vervoren made a trip to Banning Saturday, remaining over Sunday.

Mrs. I. Beck and family, who have resided at Springdale several years, are moving to Garden Grove.

Mrs. G. M. Roberson went to Santa Ana Wednesday to remain a few days with her cousin, Mrs. Ed. Moore, who is convalescing from a recent illness.

Local gun clubs are preparing for the closing shoot Saturday and Sunday. This has been the best shooting season for several years up until the past few weeks, when ducks seem to have left this section.

COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Minnie Fixmore of Fowler, Kas., is visiting at the home of her son, Charles Fixmore.

Fred Siefert and R. S. Johnston, of the Alpha Beta store, attended a luncheon Thursday at St. Ann's inn, the occasion being the regular monthly meeting of the Alpha Beta bakers.

The church services Sunday will be in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Lyman R. Bayard, who will have for his theme at the 11 o'clock service, "The Nation's Most Wonderful Deed." The 7:30 o'clock service will be "The Man With Two Talents."

Forty members were present at the Ladies' Aid society meeting held at the church Thursday. A pot-luck dinner was served at noon, with Mrs. Harry Clark, Mrs. W. B. Mellott and Mrs. Donald Gibson acting as hostesses. During the day the women pieced and quilted two quilts.

In the afternoon a business meeting and Bible study was held, with Mrs. W. W. Carruthers presiding.

Mrs. R. H. Robinson and little daughter, Juanita, of Tustin, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Grebe Thursday.

Charles Dunn jr. is suffering from a broken collar-bone, as a result of a fall from a horse Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Osborne are the parents of a nine-pound baby girl, born Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Ellis. Mrs. Osborne will be remembered as Miss Bernice Ellis.

Mrs. Anna Hiatt, of Pasadena, is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Morris.

Mrs. T. E. McFadden and daughter, Ellen, spent Sunday in Long Beach with Mrs. Sam Pollard.

BOY SCOUTS TO HOLD CONCLAVE IN SANTA ANA

The semi-annual training institute for scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and troop committeemen of the Orange County council, Boy Scouts of America, will open next Tuesday evening, at the American Legion hall, Santa Ana, at a big banquet at 6:30 p. m.

C. J. Carlson, regional executive, for the jurisdiction under the national council of California, Arizona, Nevada and Utah will open the training course with an address on "The Purposes and Objectives of Scouting," with particular emphasis on the job of troop committee. It is estimated that fully 100 people will gather at that banquet and that at least 40 of these will enroll for the regular course which will follow for six consecutive Tuesday nights.

The course will be unique in that this time definite provision is being made for both the new and the older scoutmaster.

The newer men will receive the fundamentals in Scouting, while the older men will receive their training in subjects of interest to them and their problems.

There will be no charge for the course, except a small charge for meals, and any one interested in boys or boy leadership is invited to participate.

Blaze Is Brought To Fire Station

GLOBE, Ariz., Jan. 13.—If a dog bites a man, that's not news; but if a man bites a dog, that is news.

Charles A. Dana, the newspaper sage, was the man who gave that advice to a young reporter and the words have become famous.

Globe residents are pondering over this one.

"If the fire department goes to put out a blaze, that's a fire; but what is it when someone brings a fire to the firehouse?"

Two garbage collectors on their rounds suddenly noticed their rubbish load afire. They were unable to put it out, so they drove the flaming vehicle on a mad dash to the fire station, where it was extinguished.

GIVES HIGH SCHOOL FAILRES NEW TRY

By JACK POWERS
United Press Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13—Flunking high school students will be enabled to clear educational hurdles and break down textbook barriers with less difficulty, if the idea of a Columbus high school principal is accepted by his colleagues.

H. C. Marshall, the principal, has before other school heads here a plan through which students who fail in one semester are passed with their class, and given throughout the second semested to make up their work.

It was inaugurated in his school sometime ago.

The idea, Marshall said, was an innovation in the educational realm. Opponents said it was merely an injustice to the pupils.

"It is pernicious. Failing pupils will 'take it easy' with the assurance of a second chance," they declared.

With Marshall, however, results are what count.

"Op 78 pupils placed on trial since February," he said, "58 have made good."

On the number that failed the second time, Marshall explained, nearly all made the grade on the third trial.

The greatest fault many found was that such a plan "would injure the morale of good pupils who must have in their classes pupils who failed one or more times."

Mathematics and science proved the obstacles facing weaker pupils. Marshall's figures showed that in history, English and languages nearly all who failed on first effort, recovered on second trial.

Judge Declares Women Of Today Possess Daring

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—"The modern woman is temperamental; she is impatient. If she loves, she wants to lose no time about marrying."

So said Superior Judge James M. Troutt, who marries more couples than any other person in San Francisco—and gets his share of divorces, too.

"It didn't used to be so. Women, when I was young, were cautious, and they expected and admired daring in men. But times have changed. I honestly believe that today the average woman has more initiative and daring than the average man," the judge continued.

"They are willing to plunge into matrimony with the man they love without learning anything about his past. They have never seen his brothers, sisters, or parents. They do not know whether he is foreign born or an American, whether he is married or single, or just waiting for the final decree. They only know that they are in love and nthing else matters to them."

RIVERSIDE FARM BOARD COMPLETED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—Governor Young has completed the personnel of the Riverside county agricultural board, by making the following appointments:

Cecil Funk, of Riverside, and R. E. Dillon, of Beaumont, reappointed.

George W. Thomas, of Arlington, appointed to succeed W. F. Eldridge, of Corona, resigned.

Flappers Usurp Commons Gallery

LONDON, Jan. 13—Women are slowly driving men out of the galleries of the House of Commons.

The "Gallery Flapper" has become the usurper of the one place in the Commons which men once considered their own. The young women appear to have taken an unusually keen interest in the conduct of the house since Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin has announced that he will shortly propose equal votes for women at 21. Arriving early at the house, they calmly take the front seats in the "Strangers' Gallery. The men who usually arrive just before the speaker enters, are forced to take back seats where little can be heard and nothing seen.

REDUCING FADS USELESS SAYS STATE DOCTOR

BY EARL H. LEIF
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—It's no use, girls. If you're beginning to take on weight, all the gum-chewing, pill-taking, washing-with-"reducing" soap, bran-eating and cream-rubbing in the world won't give you a svelte-like lissomness.

The stylish stouts will remain hefty despite early morning calisthenics to the tune of the phonograph or radio, says Dr. M. E. Jaffa, chief of the state bureau of foods and drugs.

And sylph-like men will be more in demand than ever, according to word received from style centers in New York. The preening male, endeavoring to reduce his embonpoint, may go on a graham bread diet, drink sour milk and refrain from indulging in beefsteaks, but the avoidupois will still cling, Dr. Jaffa warns.

With the popularization of the slender waist-line comes the problem of keeping the obese parts of one's body in proper proportion to the rest.

But it will be useless to follow the popular fads of the day, Jaffa insists, because they do more harm than good.

Jaffe lists seven "fads and fallacies" in nutrition as the most outstanding of the numerous fat reducing crazes:

(1) The reducing fad.
(2) The graham bread fad.
(3) The sour milk fad.
(4) The vegetarian fad.
(5) The no meat fad.
(6) The vitamin fad.
(7) The bran or roughage fad.

The reducing fad amongst the ranks of the "stylish stout" feminine is much more pronounced than that among the men with stomachs like large full moons, Jaffa says.

"It is true that no one wants to be fat," he says, "but there are too many women who imagine they weigh too much and desire most ardently to reduce. No one should try to reduce without the advice of a competent physician. Serious results often follow ill-advised dieting."

Big Eagle Takes Ride Into Zoo

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 13.—Imprisonment in a cage of steel was the fate meted out to a big bronze eagle which got tired of flying and stole a ride to Portland on a freight bus.

The bird boarded a bus operating between here and Walla Walla. Upon arriving in Portland, the "king of the air" gazed around contentedly, in true tourish fashion.

Terminal attendants captured the eagle and presented him to the city park bureau.

2000 PIGEONS ARE ORDERED EXECUTED

LONDON, Jan. 13.—American visitors to London next season will miss the daily pigeon "parade" around St. Paul's Cathedral, considered one of the sights of the capital.

The birds have increased so rapidly that they have become a nuisance and the execution of 2000 members of the colony has been ordered.

The depletion of the pigeon host is to be carried out at night, and some ten men with specially designed traps will endeavor to catch several hundred birds at a time until their numbers have been reduced sufficiently.

Some of the doomed pigeons will be sold as food, while others may go to the hundreds of letter-writers who, begging that the birds might be spared, promised them "good homes."

Japanese to Honor Dr. Sun of China

HACHIOJI, Japan, Jan. 13.—Japanese patriots plan a monument to Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, "father of modern China."

Mitsura Toyama, known as Japan's "Robin Hood" and leader of the reactionary elements, is fostering the movement and has announced he will purchase a site in the Nogi cottage compound near here.

GLAND OPERATIONS GAINING IN VIENNA

VIENNA, Jan. 13.—Voronoff rejuvenation operations are becoming popular in Vienna. Within one week three elderly persons, all men, have submitted to a gland transportation. Each of them declared that they feel much younger and full of life. Their ages were 70, 72, 78 respectively.

For the 72-year-old one of the surgeons used a hamadryas baboon. The man was able to leave the hospital within a week. It is expected that Professor Voronoff will come personally to Vienna in the near future. While here he will give further demonstration of his method and will also lecture to younger surgeons who aspire to become gland transplanters.

DELAWARE, O., Jan. 13.—Galoshes are in vogue this winter at Ohio Wesleyan University—as far as the basketball team is concerned. Coach Ray Detrick insists that his men wear the ungainly "mud guards." His theory is that after wearing them, the change to light basketball shoes lightens their step and enhances their footwork.

SHARKEY, HEENEY MEET IN N. Y. TONIGHT

Santa Ana High School 'Bees' Beat Long Beach

LOCAL QUINTET SEIZES LEAGUE OPENER. 34-11

Bill Cook's Cagers Forge Into Early Lead to Win With Surprising Ease

Rising to brilliant heights with a whirlwind attack that swept them a long way along the road to the championship of their division in the Coast Preparatory league, Coach Bill Cook's Santa Ana high school Class B (130-pound) basketball team yesterday defeated the Long Beach high school "Bees," 34 to 11, with almost ridiculous ease in Andrews gymnasium here.

The game marked the formal opening of the 1928 casaba season, expected to be one of the most strenuous in which Santa Ana has engaged for years.

The victory of the Santa Ana lightweights over the visiting Jackrabbit ensemble marked a new epoch in the annals of the school athletic history, for the Santa Ana teams in the Class B division have for a number of years bowed before the beach team.

Take Early Lead

From the start of the fray, the Santa Ana cagers took the lead and continued to forge ahead. Claude ("Swede") Williams was credited with the honors of the game because of his point scoring ability. He totaled 15 of the counters for the busy Poly "Bees" and sometimes his shots verged on the spectacular both at short and long range.

All of the Saint players showed superb teamwork. With cyclonic aggressiveness, the Santa Ana quintet repeatedly broke through the Long Beach defense and scored. Captain Delmer Brown, running guard, ran the gauntlet through the Long Beach defense to bring the ball to scoring range, sometimes even scoring a field goal after a dribble the length of the court.

Russell Sullivan, Monty Flanders and Neil Hall, on the starting lineup with Williams and Brown, were all outstanding.

Many Substitutes Used

Coach Cook used a whole team of substitutes and they proved more than the equal of the Long Beach ensemble.

Victory over the Long Beach Bunnies greatly increased the stock of Cook's crew in the basketball market. Before their downfall here, the Seasiders had scored victories over Compton, 26-18 and 28-17; Manual Arts, 19-18 and Redondo, 19 to 18. The Bunnies were defeated by the Inglewood Bs, 21 to 18.

Santa Ana and Long Beach were to tangle again this afternoon in varsity and Class C competition at Long Beach. The "Little Men" were to collide at 3 o'clock. Long Beach was favored to take the first string contest rather handily but the "Cees" were expected to offer the Jackrabbit midgets stern opposition.

The lineup:

Santa Ana (34)		(11) Long Beach
Williams (15)	F	(8) Stevenson
Hall (2)	F	Edmundson
Sullivan (8)	C	(1) Elliot
Brown (5)	G	McKay
Beall	G	Enzie

Substitutions

Santa Ana—Johnson for Williams; Flanders (2) for Hall; Gaspar (2) for Flanders; Gill for Sullivan; Erbe for Brown; Keeler for Beall.

Long Beach—Higgens for Stevenson; Oleson for Edmundson; Bachelor for Elliott; Park for McKay; Grey for Park; Watkins for Enzie.

Score by Quarters

Santa Ana	9	5	12	8—34
Long Beach	3	0	6	2—11

Officials—Referee, Dempsey; timekeeper, Homan.

MAC SMITH HEAVY FAVORITE AS FAMOUS GOLFERS 'GO TO POST' IN LONG BEACH OPEN

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 13.—A great field of nationally famous golfers set out here today to wrest from the veteran MacDonald Smith in the Long Beach $2500 Open tournament the superiority he has established in California winter play.

Smith, supreme stylist, had previously won first money in both the Los Angeles and the Palos Verdes Opens. Twice he nosed out "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper, of Los Angeles, by scant margins.

The fact that Smith circled the municipal course in practice here yesterday in 65, or 8 under par, gave his opponents something to think about. However, Mac and the other better known stars, will play the Virginia Country club course today and the lesser lights the municipal. The field will be reversed tomorrow.

Tommy Armour, National Open champion, promises to be a threat in the event, as does Bill Mehlhorn, of Wilkinsburg, Pa., who won the first Long Beach tournament.

Others expected to rank high are Willie I. Hunter, Los Angeles; Tony Manero, New York; Mortie Dutra, Tacoma; Mel Smith, Portland, Ore.; Bobby Cruickshank, New York; Abe Espinosa, Chicago; Al Watrous, Grand Rapids; Leo Diegel, New York; Ed Dudley, Hollywood; George Von Elm, Los Angeles, and Billy Burke, New York.

There will be 18 holes today, 18 tomorrow and the 64 low scores will play a final 36 Sunday.

MRS. ROBINSON HAS LOW SCORE AT GOLF CLUB

Mrs. Violet Robinson and Mrs. Gladys Bemis showed a dainty pair of heels to a field of 14 fair golfers of the Santa Ana Country club yesterday, winning first place in the Class A and Class B competition, respectively.

Mrs. Robinson negotiated the Newport boulevard acreage in 98, which, with her 19 handicap, netted her a 79, one of the most feminine marks of the season.

Mrs. Bemis shot a gross 125, her handicap of 36 giving her a net 89.

Miss Marguerite Way finished second in Class A, with her net 78, and Mrs. M. B. Ainsworth was third. Dora Dodgers was second in Class B.

The scores:

Gladys Bemis	89
Zada Van Meter	94
Ann Townsend	94
Lela Shields	96
Violet Robinson	79
Anne Crenshaw	82
Hattie E. Doty	92
Bert Ainsworth	82

NIMRODS OF ORANGE COUNTY BROUGHT DOWN 56 BUCKS IN 1927, STATE REPORT SHOWS

Orange county hunters brought home the venison in convincing fashion during 1927, it was disclosed here today by Fred G. Stevenot, director of natural resources. Nimrods of Orange county bagged a total of 56 bucks during the season, the report showed.

In the entire state there were 19,597 deer brought down with the hunter's rifle.

Siskiyou county led every other county as the state's "happy hunting ground," with a total of 1986 deer killed. San Francisco and Sacramento counties failed to add a single buck to the season's total.

Stevenot's report was obtained by a check-up of deer tags made by the division of fish and game, a branch of his department.

HORNSBY SAYS PLOT TO 'GET' HIM IS HOKUM

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 13.—A reported plot to kill or cripple Rogers Hornsby, baseball star, for alleged "welching" of betting debts, was characterized by Hornsby today as "hokum and propaganda."

The man whose summary trade from the New York Giants to the Boston Braves rocked sporting circles as no similar event in years, created the distinct impression he believed the report to be an abortive attempt to whip up mid-winter interest in a summer sport.

Says It's Hokum

"It is nothing but hokum," he told the United Press.

"The assassination plot" however, was published here today by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat in the form of a leased wire dispatch from New York quoting an article attributed to W. S. Farnsworth in the Evening Journal. A "price" of $10,000 to $25,000 was said to have been offered to gangsters to "get" the star.

When Hornsby had read the article, which intimated that "one of the biggest bookmakers in the country," sought his death in revenge for Hornsby's alleged "welching" the star promptly communicated with his attorney, William Fahey and ordered Fahey to prepare a formal statement "to tell the whole truth in box car letters."

Says Moore Owes Him

"So far as 'welching' is concerned," Hornsby said, "if the truth were know, Frank L. Moore, who recently brought suit against me for $90,000 alleged gambling debts, today owes me plenty of money himself."

Hornsby successfully defended the Moore suit.

He was mildly interested in the suggestion accompanying the "assassination plot" that his trade to Boston may have been effected by owners of the Giants in order to "unload Hornsby" before he was "killed or crippled."

TOVAR, ALLEN MEET AT BEACH TONIGHT

Alex Tovar and Jack Allen, 112-pounders, hook up in the main event at the Huntington Beach Amateur Athletic club tonight, Promoter A. C. ("Red") Hamilton announced today. Tovar is a 3 to 1 favorite although Allen is highly regarded in some circles.

Billy Sirus and Zenaydo Chavez are semi-windup opponents. Sirus is an overwhelming favorite. He is bigger and has a longer reach. Chavez is game and boasts a stiff punch.

The special event will see two boys new to the beach arena, Bud [illegible] and Charlie Rose. It is claimed that both are sluggers. They weigh 145 pounds.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

Among the thousands of radio fans who will be listening in t ght when the Scripps-Howard newspapers broadcast the Sharke ney bout through WJZ, WBZ and WLW, there will be one who eadful, uncauliflowered ears will be most closely attuned to eat e result.

Gene Tunney wants to know whom he will have to lick next sur r, and Joe Humphries, announcing the winner of tonight's fight, m. able to tell him.

If Tom Heeney, the freckled New Zealander, defeats Jack Shark e big Lithuanian, then Tunney's prediction will have come tr ne said long ago that he believed Heeney the best of the heavyweig ntenders.

If Sharkey wins, as almost everyone believes he will, then the ems to be little in the path of a title fight for the Bostonian.

Sharkey and Heeney have been so busy counting their millions b e tonight's hatching, however, that each seemingly has give sufficient thought to the business at hand. Jack has gone around nouncing his demands covering the period "after I beat Heeney." m doesn't talk much, but Mr. Bernard Mortimer does for him, and . Mortimer has gone to the microphone with ultimatums to Tex ckard for the time "when Heeney beats Sharkey."

Tonight's the night when Tom and Jack must concentrate upon f an hour or so of vigorous fisticuffs. Bright ideas for getting Tex ckard's money can well afford to await the outcome.

Now that James J. Johnston has acquired a 10 per cent interest Jack Sharkey, the Bostonian has nothing to worry about as far getting money out of anyone is concerned. They don't make any tter getters than Jimmy.

Unfortunately, it is quite likely that the winner of this fight will e to the hills and remain in hiding until the outdoor season.

There is not much money, comparatively speaking, to be made by cond-rate heavyweights in Madison Square Garden, and there is ways the chance of a distressing slam on the snoot from some such kward trial horse as Johnny Risko, Paolino Uzcudun or Nap Dorval.

Meanwhile, everyone overlooks William Harrison Dempsey, who o has some interest in the outcome of the Sharkey-Heeney brawl.

It is nearly time for Jack of Manassa and Hollywood to hie himself some secret training camp in the mountains, "to see if I can get e shape for a come-back."

Telegrams will pass between Dempsey, "a wonderfully rejuvenated mpsey, more like the man-killer of old" and Tex Rickard, skeptical, sitant, bashful Tex Rickard, who will want to be shown "proof that k is good enough to have a chance to regain his title" from Tunney.

Dempsey will be reported in the greatest shape of his career, and l probably demand a trial bout as a test.

Some cynics profess to believe that Rickard will toss the poor old ew right in against Tunney once more without troubling about a al bout.

Gene thinks Dempsey will meet and beat Heeney, after which rything will be set for a third world's championship set-to between members of the old firm of Dempsey and Tunney.

ANGLING CLUB DIRECTORS FOR YEAR ELECTED

Yesterday's elections of the Balboa Angling club returned to the directorate J. M. Stevenson, R. M. Huddleston, J. E. McNally, Steve Smtih, M. S. Robinson, H. V. Smith, Zert Stevenson, Frank Crocker, Roy Summers. A total of 56 votes was cast and Jimmie Stevenson received the largest number of votes cast for any director. Stevenson polled 43 votes.

At a meeting of the dirrectors after the election Robinson was elected to the post of president, Smith, vice-president, Huddleston, secretary; Crocker, treasurer, and Gus Tampalis, official gaffer.

Plans as utlined for the coming year by President Robinson were the establishment of a trophy fund; co-operation with the chamber of commerce in the matter of publicity; introduction of entertainment features and showing of sport movies at frequent intervals. Enforcement of state fish laws in this vicinity and the co-operation of the local organization with the other sportsmen's organization throughout California and also with the state game and fish commission was emphasized.

An ambitious program of tournaments is to be arranged by the tournament committee and will begin within the next three weeks. Thes tournaments will seek to interest the public at large in the contests and will not be restricted to the members of the club.

The tennis year just passed proved to be a disastrous one for Uncle Sam. The French invaders, led by the redoubtable Rene LaCoste and Henri Cochet, lifted the Davis cup from our shores. Judging from the situation in American tennis it would seem that France will hold it for more than a year.

The question prevalent among net followers is that of Bill Tilden. Is William getting old or is it really a trick knee? It appears to be many things. Tilden would write, trod the Thespian circuits, indulge in periods of temperament and play tennis all at the same time. We contend that you cannot do two things well at one time.

THE HAYMAN-BRENNEIS OFFSET DISC HARROW

Turns either right or left. Has extra heavy discs, more and larger heavy-duty, dust-proof bearings. Front and rear gang held parallel with Half Circle Hold Down Bars, insuring even penetration with both front and rear gangs.

Special Features Indicated by Numbers on Illustration

The Draw Bar is of a telescoping type. 18 inches forward or reverse motion of tractor puts disc in desired cutting angle or closed position.

Angle Adjusting Bar is connected with our triangle hitch. A light pull of a rope and both gangs take the required angle immediately.

Offset Adjusting Bar which puts Disc in required position, directly back or to side of tractor.

Rear gang hinges in center; makes turning easier, and taking angle quicker.

Our half circle Hold Down Bar is the most important feature of our Offset Disc Harrow. It acts as a guide and an evener, which insures an even penetration of both front and rear gangs.

JUSTICE F IS WELL LIKED IN COFFROTH RACE

TIJUANA RACE TRACK, Mex., Jan. 13—Justice F., winner of last season's Tijuana Derby and one of the favorites, and pacemaker along with Carlaris, in the Coffroth Handicap, has been installed favorite in the latest "future book" quotations for the ninth renewal of the world's richest classic, to be run March 18. He is quoted at 12, 6 and 3, having been steadily hammered down from his opening price of 40, 15 and 8.

The manner in which Justice F won the New Year's Handicap at New Orleans, after having been beaten in the Christmas Handicap, by Sea Rocket, is proof that "Doc" Riddle has the Daniel's horse in the same tip-top condition he was when he journeyed to the shores of the Pacific last winter.

Not improbably Justice F. was a trifle short in the Christmas Handicap. Riddle had not hurried him because of his underpinning. There is no shrewder or more conservative horseman anywhere than Riddle nor any more skilful, and he has passed his opinion that Justice F. will stand up this winter.

Justice F. was originally admirably handicapped from the Daniels-Riddle angle in the Coffroth. One hundred and six pounds would sit lightly on the shoulders of a horse that has won a New Year's Handicap under 116. He will have to carry some penalties, but even if he should win the $65,000 New Orleans Handicap, which will be run February 3rd, at the Fair Grounds, he would not have to shoulder more in the great Lower California special than he did New Year's Day.

LOCAL HUNTERS GO FAR AFIELD TO DROP DEER

By GLEN WHITAKER
Staff Correspondent Santa Ana Register

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—Orange county hunters may have brought home the venison during 1927, but few of them found their bucks within the county's boundaries, Fred G. Stevenot, director of the State Department of Natural Resources, disclosed today.

For only 56 deer were killed in Orange county last season, according to a check-up made by the Division of Fish and Game on deer tags.

Santa Ana hunters, however, found happy hunting grounds in a quartet of neighboring counties, the report indicated, as Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Riverside and Ventura counties led the south in number of deer killed during the 1927 season.

Santa Barbara county, which topped the southern list, reported [illegible] deer bagged within its borders, ranking tenth in the state. Los Angeles, next high county in the south, had a total kill of 425 bucks, Riverside was next with 323 and Ventura county yielded 274.

In the state as a whole, 19,507 deer were brought down during the season, with Siskiyou county leading as California's happiest happy hunting ground. Only two counties—Sacramento and San Francisco—failed to yield a buck to some lucky huntsman.

In Siskiyou county, which had the largest "kill" for the season, [illegible] deer were bagged; Mendocino county was a close second with a total bag of 1475 and Trinity was third with 831.

Computed on a territorial basis, however, little Marin was the leading county, with 367 deer brought down in an area of 529 square miles. San Bernardino, California's biggest county in area, produced only 74 bucks for hunters who ranged over its 20,175 square miles.

FRENCH FAMILY CLAIMS BIG DEBT

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Jan. 13.—On paper, the United States owes the Beaumarchais family of France a million dollars and compound interest since 1776. But the Beaumarchais family has no intention of trying to collect.

M. Delarue Caron de Beaumarchais, newly promoted from director of political affairs at the foreign office to become French ambassador at Rome, is the direct descendant of Pierre Caron de Beaumarchais, playwright and adventurer who came to the aid of the 13 struggling colonies even before Lafayette did.

Even before France had broken with England, in 1776, and could openly take a stand beside the American colonies, Pierre de Beaumarchais took the American envoy into a Paris cafe and signed a contract to furnish the colonies with war material. Beaumarchais took all the risks, shipping past the British fleet and collecting once the goods got there.

He was to collect every six months in tobacco and cotton for the powder, guns, uniforms and food he was shipping to New York. In one year he shipped for [illegible] francs, but could get nothing but a letter of thanks out of congress. The French foreign minister, Vergennes, advanced Beaumarchais one million francs in the name of the American colonies.

Three years later, Beaumarchais received 2,450,000 francs but the colonies refused to pay any more. Along came the French revolution, wiping out Beaumarchais' fortune. He asked for payment again, and the colonies named Alexander Hamilton to study the affair. He decided that the United States owed and should pay 2,280,000 francs.

But Beaumarchais died before he could collect even that sum, and in 1835 his descendants received a check for 800,000 francs from Washington with a request to sign a receipt in full. The rest is yet unpaid.

"I have never even figured out how much compound interest it would be and I certainly will never try to collect it," Ambassador Beaumarchais said.

Here's a player who brings his own title into the polo tournament at Del Monte's winter season. He's the Marques de Portago, Spanish grandee, who captains a team, handles a wicked mallet, and has been an expert horseman all his life. In addition, he was for years national amateur middleweight champion boxer of Spain, and represented that country in many international golf tournaments. The marques is considerable of a social idol at Del Monte, too.

SAYS JOKES ON BANKERS HOURS GETTING HOARY

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—American humorists need a Will Hays to censor their lines.

At least that's the opinion of Will C. Wood, state banking superintendent, former head of the state school system and a friend of the down-trodden bankers.

Humorists, like historians, should re-write their texts occasionally and inject a few facts to leaven the loaf, says Wood, for bankers aren't loafers, despite all this talk about "banking hours."

And all those wisecracks about bankers going south with depositors' funds should be torn from the joke books before men of the financial world take them seriously and call in the punsters' notes.

For the bankers' records in California are as clear as a doctor's prescription, says Wood. In fact, they're much clearer.

Regardless of all you've read by the late lamented Joe Miller and other humorists, real and alleged, only seven of the 27 banks forced to suspend operations in California during the last 13 years were required to close their doors because of speculations from within the employes' circle, declares the state bank superintendent.

In other words, only about 25 per cent of the banks that fail are scuttled by thieving bankers, wisecracks and gossip to the contrary, notwithstanding.

Banks do not "bust" in 75 per cent of the cases from any other reason than mismanagement, according to data compiled for Superintendent Wood by Joseph A. Crumb, supervisor of research and statistics for the state department.

Furthermore, runs on banks, no matter how stable their condition, are as easy to start as a "run" in that universally accepted "first national" institution, milady's stocking. Crumb, however, points with pardonable pride in his report to Wood to the fact that the state has found it necessary to force but 17 of the 27 suspended banks into liquidation. Those involved $6,415,348.21 in depositors' claims, of which 71.1 per cent was recovered through the state's alertness.

The predominating cause of suspension was mismanagement, which manifested itself in a wide variety of ways, chiefly excessive loans to individuals, poor investments, failure to secure proper collateral, payment of unwarranted dividends, a general inability to retain sufficient liquid assets to meet extraordinary demands of depositors, and finally, actual inability to maintain a cash reserve equal to that provided for in the state bank act.

ANAHEIM, Jan. 13.—Sale of the Orange County Drug store, corner of Clementine and West Center streets, this city, to H. C. Arnold, of Los Angeles, a druggist with 31 years' experience to his credit, was announced here today by Frank Eisenhauer, who has operated the store since 1919.

Eisenhauer announced that he and his family planned to remain in Anaheim until the close of the present school term, following which they are planning an extensive tour.

Arnold plans to establish his home here as soon as suitable quarters can be found, he said this morning.

BEACH FIREMEN NAME D. E. BURRY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 13.—D. E. Burry was elected secretary-treasurer of the volunteer fire department at the annual business meeting of the organization yesterday. Burry succeeds L. E. Mitchell. Fred Riley, H. L. Hibler and L. E. Mitchell were elected as a general committee.

William S. Ebert and Dwight Clapp were elected new members of the fire department following the resignation of John Petty and John Hanson, who have moved from Huntington Beach.

Arrangements for the fifth annual fireman's ball were made at the meeting. The fire department will stage its annual dance at the Musgrave dance hall February 14.

NEWPORT LEGION INITIATES JAN. 19

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 13.—New members of the American Legion post will be initiated at a ceremony here January 19, it was announced today.

A membership drive is now in progress. Legion members will hold their regular meetings on Thursdays instead of Fridays, it was announced at a meeting of the organization this week.

Lloyd Groover, William Ebert and L. E. Mitchell were appointed to arrange the initiation ceremonies.

The Legion will assist the Legion auxiliary in keeping the day nursery at the Legion hall. Mrs. D. E. Burry is in charge of the nursery.

GREGORY MADE PRESIDENT OF FULLERTON C. C.

FULLERTON, Jan. 13.—The annual election of officers of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce was held by the board of directors at [illegible] cafe yesterday. R. S. Gregory, [illegible] real estate broker, was elected president, succeeding Dale E. King, who has served two consecutive terms. Gregory was the unanimous choice of the directors after King refused to accept the office for another term.

Howard [illegible] was elected first vice president, and [illegible] Volk, second vice president. R. T. Davies was re-elected treasurer. Ray B. Leach was re-elected to the office of secretary-manager.

R. H. Biggs, Jess Hardy, newly elected directors, and L. O. Culp, R. T. Davies and R. S. Gregory, re-elected directors, were seated as directors.

Appealing for a spirit of co-operation and for unity of effort, Gregory stated that he hoped to have an equally successful and progressive administration during 1928.

Plans were announced for the program at the membership banquet, which is to be held Tuesday night at the Mission inn. Waldo O'Kelly and Tom Eadington made the report.

BREA BANK HEADS ARE RE-ELECTED

BREA, Jan. 13.—Shareholders of the Oilfields National bank held their annual meeting in Craig hall Wednesday night, with L. A. Sayles acting as chairman of the meeting, and H. A. MacClatchie, A. D. Yost and Ted Craig as judges of the election.

A. H. Brown, president of the bank, gave a detailed report of the activities of the institution during the past year and presented a statement of the bank's finances, both of which were accepted as satisfactory.

The same officers and directors that were elected at the opening of the bank in November, 1926, were re-elected. They are as follows: A. H. Brown, president; Dr. W. E. Jackson, first vice president; Walker C. Davis, vice president and cashier; R. E. Barnes, assistant cashier; H. A. MacClatchie, A. D. Yost, Ted Craig, W. A. Baldwin and Edward Curtis, directors.

ROAD PROBLEMS TAKEN UP AT COUNTY COAST SESSION; COMMITTEES ARE SELECTED

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 13.—The widening, paving and lighting of the Coast highway through Orange county, the opening of South Main street in Santa Ana through to Corona Del Mar and the opening of a new road into Newport Beach with a viaduct over the Coast highway are the major problems before the Orange County Coast association, it was declared at a meeting of the body at the Balboa Palisades club last night.

L. J. Burrud, chairman of the advertising committee of the organization, in reporting for S. H. Woodruff, chairman of the road committee, declared that the widening and paving of the coast highway through Orange county should be the big aim of the association.

The coast highway from Seal Beach to Dana Point is the third heaviest traveled road in the state of California, it was declared by Harry Welch, secretary of the association. The highway from San Jose to San Francisco is the heaviest traveled road. The Whittier-Montebello highway is the second, his report showed.

The road committee of the association was instructed to start petitions at once and to take other steps to get the work of widening, paving and lighting the road in motion.

K. I. Fulton, of Corona Del Mar, spoke on behalf of the opening of South Main street to Corona Del Mar. Fulton pointed out that the road would shorten the distance from Santa Ana to Corona Del Mar by more than four miles. The road would pass the proposed Orange county airport, it was shown at the meeting. The matter of the extension of the street to Corona Del Mar was referred to the road committee.

Many subjects of benefit to the coast cities were taken up during the meeting. Representatives of every city on the coast of Orange county were at the session. More than 60 persons were present.

Antar Deraga, aviation enthusiast and weather observer stationed at Newport Beach, reported on air travel over Newport Beach and the Orange county coast. More than 2000 persons have viewed the Orange county coast from the air during the past three months, Deraga declared. Most of the persons who flew over the coast were strangers in Southern California, he stated.

J. S. Malcom, of San Juan Capistrano, spoke briefly on behalf of the Elsinore road, a proposed road across the mountains from Capistrano to Elsinore.

J. A. Armitage, of Sunset Beach, in a short report, gave an outline of a plan to make a new outlet for the San Gabriel river in Orange county near Seal Beach. Armitage asked the association to investigate the matter. The water conservation and flood control committee was instructed to investigate.

Membership of the roads, the marine development and the advertising committee were announced. The road committee is composed of Hal F. Warner, San Clemente; Carl Hankey, San Juan Capistrano; S. H. Woodruff, Dana Point; H. H. Henshaw, Laguna Beach; T. C. Hitchings, Irvine estates; J. J. Schnitker, Newport Beach; J. H. Marks, Newport Harbor; T. B. Talbert, Huntington Beach; J. A. Armitage, Sunset Beach; P. A. Stanton, Seal Beach. Woodruff is chairman of the committee with Armitage vice chairman.

The marine development committee is composed of B. H. Cass, J. B. McNally, George E. Vibert, William McCoy, Don Douglas, Frank Smith and J. A. Beek.

L. J. Burrud, chairman of the advertising committee, announced the members of his group. They are E. O. Hansen, J. S. Malcom, Hal Forest, K. I. Fulton, G. C. Macleod, D. G. Duncan, J. F. Farquhar and H. H. Newton.

A number of members of the association spoke during the evening, including B. H. Cass, J. Frank Burke, W. B. Mandeville, Frank Smith, Hal Warner, H. H. Henshaw, J. A. Beek, George E. Vibert, Dr. C. G. Huston, J. S. Thurston and L. C. Denslow.

J. A. Beek, of Newport Beach, presented the matter of oil pollution of the beaches. The association adopted a resolution commending Gov. C. C. Young in his campaign to abate the nuisance and urging the governor to continue the campaign. The resolution was also widened to include an objection to drilling on tidelands. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the state mining bureau and to the governor.

Dr. C. G. Huston in a brief talk gave the association a standing invitation to meet in Costa Mesa.

Robert Bradford, of Santa Ana, well known singer, gave a number of vocal selections, being accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. S. Briggs. The musical program was arranged by G. C. Macleod, of Newport Beach.

The next meeting of the organization will be at San Clemente February 9.

OFFICERS FOR ORANGE W. R. C. ARE INDUCTED

ORANGE, Jan. 13.—Installation ceremonies of the W. R. C. were held last night in Barger's hall at 8 o'clock. The meeting was open to the public and was largely attended.

Mrs. Gladys MacDonald, department institution and installing officer, had charge of the ceremonies.

Those installed were as follows: President, Mrs. Edith McDonald; senior vice president, Pearl Higgins; junior vice president, Mamie Higgins; secretary, Gladys MacDonald; treasurer, Bessie Foster; conductor, Geraldine Hodson; guard, Florence Merriman; assistant guard, Nannie Richard; assistant conductor, Nell Brown; patriotic instructor, Fredda Porter; color bearers, Euphemia Rails, Edna McCollum, Rebecca Baier and Mabel Lee; press reporter, Mrs. L. B. McCoy; chaplain, Mrs. A. A. Schlassman, of Santa Ana. Mrs. Estelle Ludwig Grey was the musician for the evening.

The committee in charge of the refreshments served after the installation was composed of Mrs. Eady Robinson, Mrs. Lillian Weiderman, Mrs. Emma Wiley and Mrs. Rosella Smith.

$25,000 SCHOOL COMPLETED SOON

PLACENTIA, Jan. 13.—The new auditorium built recently at a cost of $25,000 for the Placentia union grammar school will be ready for occupancy soon. The chairs purchased for the building have arrived and will be installed in a few days.

The contractor in charge of stage equipment and shades for the auditorium windows reports that the work is being rushed to completion and that everytming should be in place in another week.

It has been necessary to add another teacher to the force at the Richfield school, the rooms being overcrowded. At a recent meeting of the school board, Mrs. Sadie Iler was employed to fill the new position.

CLEARINGS IN FULLERTON FOR YEAR INCREASE

FULLERTON, Jan. 13.—A record year was enjoyed by the banks of Fullerton during the past year, according to officials of the clearing association, who said that 1927 showed a total gain of $5,000,000 over 1926.

A steady increase was noticed every month during the year, although no great increase was evident in any one month. The total for 1927 was $22,326,881.50, while the total for 1926 was $17,665,-565.

It was stated that the bank clearings of 1926 had shown a great increase over the total in 1925.

LAGUNA FIREMEN ELECT OFFICERS

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 13.—All officers of the volunteer fire department were re-elected at the annual meeting held this week in the fire hall erected by the volunteers on Third street.

Leon E. Endres was selected to serve for another year as chief, Wallie Cox as assistant chief and Frank McLaughlan as secretary-treasurer.

The report of the past year showed that good progress had been made, that the city has better protection than ever before, and that the department itself is in a very satisfactory condition.

It was decided to sound the siren fire alarm on the fourth Tuesday of each month to make sure that it is in working order, and a suggestion is made to the public that the telephone operators not be bothered to find out where the fire may be. The sounding of the alarm for this purpose was authorized by the city council several weeks ago.

The proposal to make the fire department a part of the city instead of purely volunteer is to be considered by a committee of firemen and city officials. It was organized as a part of the water district before the city was incorporated and has never been taken over by the city. Obstacles which prevented this were only recently removed.

Beauty Pageant Plan In La Habra

LA HABRA, Jan. 13.—Plans for a beauty pageant to be held sometime this spring are being made by the General Ladies Society. Mrs. J. L. Morris and Mrs. D. Dundas have been appointed on the committee—to convene with the other organizations of the town and to secure contestants.

Southern Seas Members To Hear Reports Saturday

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 13.—Members of the Southern Seas club will meet here tomorrow afternoon to consider a number of important club matters. The meeting was called by J. P. Greeley, president of the club.

Reports of the treasurer and secretary will be heard as will reports from the membership committee. Ways and means of keeping the club active during the coming year will be considered and the members will act upon a proposal to drop members who are delinquent in dues and service charges. The meeting will convene at 2 p. m.

NEW BUILDINGS PROJECTED IN GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 13—That acreage and city properties are coming into their own, is evidenced by the number of transactions put across in the last three weeks by the local realty firm of Reafsnyder and Arrowsmith.

An acre of oranges owned by Asher Carpenter on West Lawson street has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Coulon, of Iowa. Mr. and and Mrs. Coulon have taken possession and will begin the erection of a home. A lot on North Fourth street owned by Sam Woolridge has been acquired by George Kerns, who is starting the erection of a modern stucco home. One hundred sixty acres of farm land in central Kansas has been exchanged for Charles M. Scott, of Santa Ana.

The business lot next to the Lantern cafe, owned by Clarence B. Crosby, has been sold to George Kerns, who will commence a modern business block at once. Five acres of valencia oranges on Lawson street, owned by Allen Brothers, have been sold to John Kraft, of Santa Ana. The W. H. Russell residence on East Acacia street, has been sold to O. O. Smith, of Arkansas. Mr. Smith and family expect to move into their new home in the near future. The total sales amount to about $25,000.

Two Initiated By Auxiliary Of Brea

BREA, Jan. 13.—The Brea Legion auxiliary initiated two new members at the regular meeting Wednesday night. They were Mrs. Beatrice Livingston and Mrs. LeGraf.

Mrs. Ella Stumbo, advanced to the presidency by the resignation of Mrs. Ruth Craig, presided for the first time. Mrs. Vina Gesme was elected second vice president, taking the place of Mrs. Ruth Templeman, who was advanced to the position of first vice president.

PLANNING BODY NAMED TONIGHT BY H. B. C. OF C.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 13.—The fact that today is Friday, the thirteenth, means nothing to members of the chamber of commerce, who will select seven men tonight to act as a city planning body, despite the popular superstition regarding the unluckiness of the day. The meeting will be held in the city auditorium and will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

The election of the planning committee will be the main order of business at the session. Several speakers have been secured and a musical program has been arranged by Chris Pann, chairman of the entertainment committee.

F. E. Bundy, of Santa Monica, will be the main speaker of the evening. Bundy will speak on "City Control of the Waterfront."

T. B. Talbert, former Orange county supervisor, and C. G. Boster, mayor of Huntington Beach, will speak regarding the scope of the planning committee.

W. T. Newland will tell of the advantages of Huntington Beach as a residential city. Newland has been a resident of the town for 33 years.

Dale M. Peters will speak on "A Man or His Money in Building a City."

Members of the Woman's club will serve the dinner. L. L. Gilmore, local musician, will present a number of instrumental selections.

FOREIGN ORDERS FOR BREA CONCERN

BREA, Jan. 13.—Production at the Shafer Tool Works is being turned out on a night and day schedule this month, taking care of the many foreign and mid-continent orders in addition to the normal business in the California fields.

Shipments are being made, or are in process of manufacture, for Texas, Wyoming and Oklahoma points in this country and for export to Palemberg, Sumatra and Bahia, Blanca.

Legion Members Guests Of Scouts

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 13.—Boy Scouts of troop three entertained members of the local American Legion at the Scout cabin last night. Troop three is sponsored by the Legion and a few weeks ago the Legion entertained the Scouts.

A program of stunts and demonstrations of Scout work filled the evening. Refreshments were served. More than 30 persons were present at the meeting.

One New Bride Plans Delightful Event For Another

One bride complimented another in delightful fashion last night when Mrs. Clyde Martin (Margaret Hutchings) game a kitchen shower in her new home in Anaheim, for Mrs. Percy Martin, formerly Miss Marie McDonald.

A lively evening was devoted to 500, in which Mrs. J. F. McDonald, mother of the honor guest, took first prize while Miss Beth Nunn was consoled. When the pretty gifts were presented, the hostess took the opportunity to place a tray before Mrs. Martin, who discovered that her friends had chosen a wealth of pretty and useful things for her kitchen shelves.

After all had been examined, Mrs. Martin, assisted by her mother, Mrs. C. H. Hutchings, arranged the card tables with lovely bridal linens and served an appetizing two-course supper. Mrs. Clyde Martin, the hostess, was wedded the first of December, while her honor guest, Mrs. Percy Martin, donned the wedding veil only a few days later.

Guests enjoying the pleasant evening included the honoree and Miss Winifred Iman, Miss June Ferney, Mrs. Ross McNeill, Miss Lucille Sears, Miss Beth Nunn, Miss Harriet Koser, Miss Edna Backs, Miss Juliette Evans, Miss Reta Martin, Mrs. T. E. Renfro (Miss Helen Smith) of Long Beach, Mrs. Howard Thorpe of Redondo, Mrs. L. E. Martin, Mrs. M. U. Martin, Mrs. C. H. Hutchings and Mrs. D. A. Martin.

Anniversary Dinner Honors Visiting Pair

Delightful in all of its details was the dinner party given today by Mrs. H. W. Lawrence for her parents, Mr and Mrs. S. E. Cooper of Pennsylvania, who are spending the winter in California to escape the rigors of a Pennsylvania winter.

Mrs. Lawrence issued invitations to only a few of Mr. and Mrs. Cooper's closer friends to join them at the dinner, which was held in celebration of the fifty-second wedding anniversary of the honored pair.

Friendly Bridge Club Is Entertained in Phillips Home

Mrs. Lawrence Phillips was hostess to the members of her bridge club Wednesday evening, greeting them in her cozy apartment in Washington Court, where they enjoyed a lively session of their favorite game.

Mrs. Burton Wright held high score, and received a lovely three-piece lace vanity set, while a dainty boudoir pillow as second prize, was awarded Mrs. Leavitt Ford.

In serving refreshments of fruit salad, salted wafers, coffee and lady fingers with milk chocolate, Mrs. Phillips arranged her tables very beautifully with linens, centering each with a rosy candle rising from a mound of sweet peas as delicately pink as the candles.

Enjoying the pleasant evening with the hostess were Miss Helen Heesch of Long Beach, Mrs. Leavitt Ford of Garden Grove, Mrs. Eugene Thomas, Mrs. John Hartke, Mrs. Burton Wright, Miss Gertrude Heesch, and Mrs. Harold O'Donnell.

Hermosa Circle Has Pleasant Meeting

Nearly 40 members of Hermosa Circle, the social organization of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S. shared a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon yesterday, when they met with Mrs. G. E. Bruns in her friendly home at 1209 Spurgeon street, for the party planned by her and her committee, Mrs. Joe Burke, Mrs. Roscoe Wilson and Mrs. Herman Zabel.

One room was given over to bridge and its devotees found tables all in readiness, with attractive score and tally cards. In another room, were those who preferred to give their time to needlework, and everywhere was friendly chat and merriment. Mrs. Alice Tubbs held high score in bridge, and Mrs. Roy Langley, second. Each received an attractive gift, and a third prize was presented to Mrs. M. C. Hoyt, holding the lucky number among the needle-women.

During the pleasant hour following the bridge contest, the hostesses arranged the small tables attractively for serving a tea menu of crisp cinnamon toast, with tea and coffee, red candied apples, with whipped cream, and home-made cookies.

L. A. Man Held On Pretense Charge

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 13.—G. D. White, 45, of Los Angeles was placed in the local jail today after local police had returned him from Los Angeles, where he was arrested on a warrant from this city. White is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

A complaint against White was issued after Mrs. Fairy Hanson, local hotel owner, appeared in court and declared that she had purchased cooking utensils from White and had paid him some money. The utensils never arrived Mrs. Hanson claims.

BREA

BREA, Jan. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mitchell left Wednesday for their new ranch home near Wasco. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have owned this 40-acre ranch for some time and have had it rented. It is planted to alfalfa and cotton.

Word from Mrs. R. T. Smith, who left two weeks ago for the Mayo institute in Rochester, is to the effect that she is improving under the treatment received there and that an operation will not be necessary.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National bank will be held in the bank Tuesday evening, according to announcement made by John J. Cox, vice-president and cashier of the bank.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Farrell and daughter, Barbara, of Topeka, Kans., are recent arrivals in Brea and are visiting at the home of Mrs. Farrell's sister, Mrs. R. M. Fleischer, on West Cedar. They will make an extensive visit in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Sandman, who have been living at 411 West Date street, have moved to the Fred B. Senn property on West Seivers, having purchased the propery.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crowe, formerly occupants of the Senn house, are now settled in the L. A. Will property at 422 South Orange.

Mrs. Florence Harvey, membership chairman in this district for the Y. W. C. A. of northern Orange county, asks that all women in Brea or vicinity who expect to attend the "Y" luncheon to be given at the Mission Inn in Fullerton at 1 o'clock January 18 make their reservations with her not later than Monday afternoon. They may be made directly with Mrs. Frank [illegible], Fullerton, whose telephone number is 994-J.

EBELL'S SECOND TRAVELERS ENTERTAIN AT DINNER PARTY

Hospitality night for members of Ebell's second travel section, meant a happy evening for themselves, their husbands and their friends, when they gathered last night at the clubhouse, to enjoy a turkey dinner planned by Mrs. W. D. Baker and her menu committee, and a unique entertainment planned by Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns and her program committee.

Assembling in the lounge at 6 o'clock, members and guests enjoyed a period of chat before moving to the section rooms where dinner was served. Bowls of roses made the section rooms especially attractive when coupled with the charming decorations of the small tables, where tiny glass baskets held clusters of rosebuds, cornflowers and spicy carnations.

Mrs. Baker and her committee, Mrs. George Reyburn, Mrs. Mit Phillips, Mrs. J. H. Walker, Mrs. J. R. Medlock and Mrs. Victor Montgomery, had planned a delectable menu of turkey and its companion dishes, ending with individual angel-food cakes with the section's initials worked out in orchid and gold. Mrs. Montgomery was unable to be present, and sent three capable aides in her daughters, Miss Gertrude Montgomery and Mrs. Tarver Montgomery, who had been asked as her guests, and who took their part in serving the dinner, with the other members of the committee.

Since the lounge of the clubhouse was in use for the latter part of the evening, the Ebell members and their guests continued their party in the pleasant section rooms, and Mrs. E. C. Nelson, leader, introduced the Rev. F. T. Porter as entertainer. Mr. Porter's mastery of legerdemain is well-known, but it was put to proof last night, since he was working right in the midst of his audience. The skill with which he performed one feat of magic after another, left everyone breathless, and the various entertaining feats were accompanied by a flow of genial humor that kept them all laughing.

When he bewildered such well-known men as W. D. Baker, by the flow of supposedly bootleg liquor, from his coat sleeve, and E. C. Nelson, by writing in advance, the name of the card he should draw from a deck, and W. W. Anderson, by his converting of sawdust into after-dinner mints, he delighted his audience, but when his magic was accomplished with the aid of various of the women present, including Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Montgomery, the fun became hilarious.

To complete the program, Mrs. Porter gave two of her delightful readings, "The Tale of the Twilight Bell," with its serious beauty, and "Little Dutch Baby," an amusing dialect bit. Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Emerson Marks and Mrs. E. L. French, forming the program committee, were congratulated upon the entertaining evening they had planned, and Mr. and Mrs. Porter were assured of a cordial welcome any time they might wish to repeat their program.

Travel members and guests enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ranney and Master Walter Ranney jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Reyburn, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rankin, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Baker, the Rev. and Mrs. F. T. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Theo A. Winbigler, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns, Judge and Mrs. Emerson Marks, Mrs. M. C. Williams, Harvey P. Riggle, Mrs. E. L. French, Miss Mary Farek, Mrs. C. F. Crose, Mrs. S. A. Jones, Mrs. Neva Fry, Miss Ethel Archer, Miss Laura Penny, Miss Gertrude Montgomery, Mrs. Ida Clark Tripp, Mrs. George A. Waterman, Mrs. Tarver Montgomery, Mrs. R. J. Thompson, Mrs. W. E. Garrett, Mrs. Mit Phillips, Mrs. J. H. Walker, Mrs. J. R. Medlock, Miss Teresa McDeneur, Mrs. Minnie M. Collins, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Miss Louise Montgomery, Mrs. Earl Morris, Mrs. Nona Franklin, Miss Mary A. Taylor, Miss Octavia Goldsworthy.

California's History Entertainingly Told University Women

When the University Women of Orange county assembled last night in Ebell clubhouse of this city, they had the pleasure of hearing a remarkable exposition of "Why California is Part of the United States," given by Dr. Osgood Hardy of the history department of Occidental college.

Dr. Hardy showed his familiarity with the subject, by going far back in history, even to the sixth century, when, according to his statement the first "yellow peril" menaced the land, with the arrival of Tibetan missionaries, who visited the Californian shore returning to China with tales of the new land—tales to which the Chinese failed to listen.

The Japanese also heard of the country, but closed their gates against intercourse with the outside world, hence the knowledge availed them nothing. The land seemed worthless, and the entry of the Spaniards, was the best possible thing that could have happened from the standpoint of future American ownership, as they held the land against all comers.

Sir Francis Drake cruised along the coast and despoiled the Spaniards, but conquering the barren country seemed too difficult to be worth while to the English. The Russians also visited the land, but found the fur-trading of the northern Pacific coast more lucrative, so again California was saved to the United States.

In tracing the history of the state, Dr. Hardy declared that Portola, the Spanish explorer, and James K. Polk, the president, have both been sadly neglected in the bestowing of honors where honors are due. Declaring that President Polk had done more for the preservation of California than any other one man, the speaker voiced his regret that no statue had been raised to him in the various expositions of the state.

Portola is not honored as he should be, because fate willed that Father Junipero Serra should have an excellent biographer not averse to stretching the truth a bit, in his efforts to have Farther Serra properly canonized. In support of his statement, the speaker cited the pretty myth that the Spanish expedition into California under Father Serra and Portola, was saved from a forced departure by arrival of a supply ship, in answer to Father Serra's prayers. The real truth being that Portola had written for reinforcements and supplies, to arrive at a date subsequent to the arrival of the ship, thus proving that he had no intention of abandoning the expedition.

"Place nomenclature" proved a fascinating bit of the talk, as the speaker showed how such nomenclature brings out many historical points. He entertained his hearers greatly by telling how typically American names are mistaken for Spanish by those unfamiliar with the latter language. He cited "Monrovia," which he explained was named for an early settler named Monroe. "Pasadena," he explained, was not Spanish as many believed, but was a Chippewa Indian name, suggested by John Eliot, a missionary among the Chippewas.

To complete the entertaining evening for the University Women's club and its guests, Ione Tunison Peek played a Chopin number and N. D. Prichett sang two tenor solos, with Mrs. Peek as accompanist. The two are among Orange county's leading musicians.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

Freckles, tan, moles and "liver spots" are all due to the pigment of the skin collecting in spots instead of being distributed evenly. You probably know all the ways there are of treating summer freckles and tan; in any case it's no time of the year to discuss them. Some faces, however, will tan from exposure to winter wind. Anything of the sort should be treated with cold cream and prevented by liberal use of cold cream or vanishing cream before the face is exposed. This is strictly a winter time treatment since the cold air dries and roughens the skin, which must be kept artificially fed with oils.

Moles are a more serious matter. If you attempt too much treatment you may find that you've injured your skin. In practically every case I advise going to a dermatologist unless your own doctor can give you treatments. There is a process known as "unpigmentation" which will remove moles without leaving a scar. Raised colorless moles can be removed easily, the only dangerous form of mole is the red mole, which must be watched but not touched and if it shows any signs of getting bigger or uglier, must be treated by a doctor.

However, there are one or two home treatments which, if they do not actually remove the mole, may bleach it and make it less offensive. This is to bind a bit of cotton saturated with strong fresh peroxide of hydrogen over the spot, and when it dries saturate it again. This treatment cannot possibly do any harm and has the great value of bleaching and eventually killing any hairs that may grow from the mole. No woman should allow a hairy mole to appear on her face, such moles are an unnecessary disfigurement and they can be removed by any ordinary doctor. But if the hairy moles are small or less prominently placed try the peroxide treatment three times a week.

Estelle—Your bust will not appear to be too large after a few more years, as you will have grown in other ways. It is better not to try to reduce the bust, but dress so it is not so noticeable.

Marion C.—The advice given above covers your question of weight and maturity at your age. There are so many changes over the growing period that there could not be any set weight that could be considered as normal, however, you are doing the right thing by omitting the sweets you have been eating, and your figure will be improved by a little less weight.

Brush your brows and lashes to help them grow.

In compiling tables of caloric values I find it practically impossible to work out the caloric value of the hors d'oeuvre portion of the menu. So many of the appetizing tidbits are combined with oil, while mayonnaise is used so lavishly on eggs and vegetable salad, that all I can tell you is to avoid hors d'oeuvre if you wish to reduce. Even the apparently harm- [illegible] caloric value of [illegible]. Three olives and a scanty tablespoonful of mayonnaise, which is the least amount that ever goes on half a hard boiled egg and which looks so tempting on a plate of hors d'oeuvre, equals another 100 calories; while the half egg itself is about 40. Then when you remember that hors d'oeuvre is only to give you an appetite for a meal you can see how rapidly your calories will go up.

It is much better to start your meal with a thin clear soup. It doesn't much matter what variety it is because the average plateful is only about 15 calories. The "average plateful" is about four ounces or a little more, so if you are dieting you can eat almost double the normal amount of soup (which will seem very filling, in case you are hungry) without using up too much of your caloric ration. Whereas, if you eat an average serving of a thick cream soup, the caloric value is 125 or more! I think this illustration of the difference between the two sorts of soup, thick or clear, shows better than anything else how really easy it is to reduce, and yet eat normal meals.

Or begin your menus with oysters, if you can get them. Half dozen are about 50 calories (unless you smother them in rich red sauce.) Lemon juice can be used as easily, and has no caloric value. But the thick red cocktail sauce is forbidden if you want to reduce.

N. W. C.—You can have the list of foods with their caloric values, if you request it and send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for mailing.

Elaine—Use a bathbrush when bathing to help you smooth off the roughness called "goose-flesh." Salt baths will help you also, and so will any kind of bathing that brings the blood to the skin, increasing the circulation. This condition is easily cured if you can take cold baths daily. Of course, you would not take these, unless you react afterward, when there would be a warm glow over the skin, with quickened circulation.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Jim Hayes of Springfield, Ill., convicted of murder, raised a terrible row when he found that a policewoman and nurse were to be present at his execution. Jim delivered himself of this sentiment: "Women got me into a peck of trouble and if I must hang for the murder of a woman, I won't have any more of them hanging around to gloat over what's happening to me."

Authorities ruled, however, that the two women, present in an official capacity, could remain. They did. Jim Hayes, murderer, is not the first man to learn that women will stay where they "choose," male criticism to the contrary.

POOR WORKING GIRL

How do working girls buy their chicken salad lunches and chiffon silk hose? The New York University of Textiles and Clothing, which has just completed a research of the wages and expenses of thousands of New York working girls, wants to know. This body discovered that more than a third of the girls earn less than $1000 a year, and insists that a girl cannot healthfully live under $1500 a year.

HUSBAND GETTERS

Wage-earning "girls" from 15 to 50 were questioned. Clothing expenditures ran from 13 to 26 per cent, depending on income. Only one-half of one per cent admitted wearing cotton or wool hose. Forty dollars a year for beauty, including hair cuts, marcels, and manicures, was an average amount quoted. The researchers draw the conclusion that the working girl will not sacrifice her looks in the way of poor clothes or beauty treatments, whatever else she may be without. The business of getting a husband still seems to be the girl's major business, so why do the alarmists worry about an oncoming day of no homes?"

Because she kept her promise and never married, Miss Bernice McNulty, 55, of Philadelphia, received a quarter of a million fortune the other day. It was left her by William Gibson, 60, a wealthy Pittsburg coal man. When he was 15 and Miss McNuuty 10 she promised never to marry any other man. The two were formally engaged all their lives but agreed never to marry even one another. Some women might think this quarter of a million earned at two high a price!

THOSE IN-LAW SUITS

Alienation of affection suits waged by daughters-in-law or sons-in-law against the parents of their respective husband or wife are becoming more and more frequent in our courts. Day after day a $10,000 or $50,000 suit is pressed against papa or mama-in-law, claiming that their influence broke up a home.

How about it? Are these only money cases planned by gold-diggers? Do in-laws break up homes, or is their influence over a son or daughter only normally maternal and paternal, meeting with extreme jealousy on the part of husband or wife who wished to keep his newly acquired property from even his parents? I am inclined to believe the latter.

The TINYMITES

(Read The Story, Then Color The Picture)

"At last," yelled Clowny, "we have found the king of all the underground. We'll surely have a heap of fun, if he will let us play But, first of all, if not too rude, I'd like to ask the king for food. We haven't eaten lately, and I don't feel well today."

"So, you would like a bite to eat?" the king replied. "We'll have a treat. Just sit down 'round my table. Just like home I'll make it seem." The Tinymites sat down, and then the man walked out, and back again. And right before the Tinies, he placed bowls of flakes and cream.

When they had finished with their meal, wee Clowny shouted, "Now I feel a great deal better than I did. The flakes were surely good." "I'm glad you liked them," said the man, "if you have eaten all you can, you'd best sit down and rest a while. I really think you should."

Then Scouty said, "We would be wise, if we would get some exercise. That always helps digest your food. I only wish I knew just how to find my way around these passages far underground. Please tell us which path we can take, and where 'twill lead us to."

"I guess you're right," the old man said. "Pick any path and go ahead and scamper gaily here and there and see what you can see." So, off the merry Tines went, a happy bunch, just pleasure-bent. They thought the king of underground was kind as he could be.

All of a sudden, Clowny cried, "Oh, look! I'm going to have a ride. I've found a little groundhog and he's very friendly, too." Then, on its back Wee Clowny hopped. He rode a while and then he flopped. This made the Tinies laugh, 'cause 'twas a funny thing to do.

(The Tinymites meet another friend in the next story).

The Dry Shampoo

When you have not time for a regular shampoo or are suffering from head cold and wish you could give your hair a dry shampoo, the following is most effective.

You should brush your hair out thoroughly and then divide it into small sections, or strands.

An ounce of orris root and one ounce of corn meal should be mixed together. If your hair is extremely oily add a little powdered camphor. Put this into an old powder can, one with a perforated top, and shake the shampoo along the partings of the hair. Rub the powder in with the first and second fingers and let it remain on the hair for a few minutes.

Take your brush and brush the hair down with long, firm, even strokes. This will brush the powder down through the hair and will take the dust and oils along with it. After you have brushed the powder through the hair keep brushing until the powder has been removed from the scalp and hair. Take an old piece of silk and polish each strand of hair with it. A little cinnamon added to the orris root and corn meal will give the hair a much fresher and cleaner gloss, especially if it is auburn in color.

Another way of shampooing the hair without the use of soap and water is to moisten the hair with Cologne water. If the hair is very oily one half ounce of refined toilet alcohol, of Cologne water and ten drops of rose-mary water can be used. Leave on the hair a few minutes and dry with an old piece of silk. Polish the strands of the hair with a fresh piece of silk. Brush the hair with a clean brush, one with fairly long bristles, as you want the bristles to penetrate to the scalp.

AT THE THEATER

TEMPLE THEATER

"The Girls of the Underworld," said to be the greatest sensational sex picture, opened at the Temple theater yesterday with a special matinee for women only and two shows in the evening for men only.

The picture deals with the underworld and depicts the many lures and snares confronting innocent youth. It is a daring story told in a fascinating drama of real life and had a long run in New York and other eastern cities before coming to the west coast.

WEST COAST-WALKER

"Old Ironsides" closes tonight at the West Coast-Walker theater.

Lawrence Stallings, author of "The Big Parade" and "What Price Glory?" wrote the story, which in itself is a guarantee of audience enjoyment, and although as it reaches the screen the romantic element follows along rather conventional lines with certain developments that are most picturesque and pleasing than plausible, the characters of the bos'n and the gunner are intensely real and convincing, accurate types of men of the seas in the days of the old wooden sailing ships.

As has gotten to be so often the case in productions in which he appears, Wallace Beery really steals the picture so far as the individual players are concerned, and George Bancroft, the famous heavy of "Underworld" gives him a race for the comedy honors.

British Ready For Return Of Hankow

PEKING, Jan. 13—In a reliable British source, it is reported that the British government is ready to open negotiations for the return of its former concession in Hankow whenever any Chinese officials can be found with the authority to negotiate.

A wide difference of opinion is known to exist among British diplomatic officials and businessmen in China regarding the wisdom of re-claiming possession of the concession at this time. There is agreement on the general principle that the concession ought to be put back under British administration eventually, unless the Japanese and French concessions are likewise relinquished. Some feel, however, that this is not a good moment to land British troops in Hankow and re-occupy the old British area.

Many complaints have reached the British legation from British residents in Hankow saying that conditions in the concession have become gradually less tolerable since the area was turned over to the Chinese for administration.

YOUNG TO FILL VACANCIES ON STATE BUREAUS

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—With he advent of the new year, a new eal in several state departments, oards and bureaus is naturally to e expected.

Most important of these immeliate changes is that of Will J. rench of San Francisco, who is o be seated in Governor Young's ouncil as director of the departnent of industrial relations at the neeting January 25.

French is not a newcomer to the ndustrial accident commission. He erved upon it from 1911 to 1924. Jnder the law adopted by the last egislature, the chairman of the oard becomes director of the department at a salary of $6,000 a ear.

Appointment of French to this ost didn't come as a surprise, owever, as Governor Young very rankly admitted when he took ofce that he expected to find a lace for French on the commision.

As the term of John W. Carrian of Los Angeles was the first expire, it was natural that the overnor should fill the first vaancy by naming French.

J. A. McGilvray, who has served n the governor's council as dictor, is expected to resign to enr the newspaper business. He as purchased a weekly newspaper Davis, seat of the state agricultral college. It is also believed at J. Emmett Olmsted, another ichardson member on the indusial accident commission, will also sign.

Another vacancy is looming on e state board of prison directors. Will F. Morrish, Berkeley, has ready submitted his resignation the governor, effective at the tter's pleasure. Governor Young, owever, is having a hard time to nd a man who can fill the post well as Morrish.

Judge C. E. McLaughlin of Sacmento, whose term on the prison oard expires January 12, is excted to be reappointed.

Folks around the capitol are getng a lot of fun these days kidng the "whistling governor and secretaries."

Ever since someone discovered at Governor Young, Charles A. hitmore, his private secretary, d Keith Carlin, executive secrey, are inveterate whistlers while work, the fun's been going on.

Whitmore's favorite tune is the pular "Charmaine," though he asionally has a lapse and breaks "Alexander's Ragtime Band." arlin, who hails from Alexan-, Va., suh, keeps the home fire memories burning by whistling "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny."

Governor Young has no particular favorites. His small daughter Luncy, however, told one on her dad during the day of the Folsom prison riot. While he was busy calling out the national guard for protection, the executive was perpetually whistling snatches of "The Prisoner's Song."

Reapportionment's still in the courts, with indications that it will stay there for some time.

Just about the time the Los Angeles referendum against the measure qualified, the Farm Bureau backed in with an injunction suit to keep Secretary of State Jordan from putting the measure on the ballot.

Validity of the names on the petitions were attacked. The matter is still before Sacramento superior courts.

This question may require a separate election, it is said. While the people would be voting on senators from odd-numbered districts, they might on the same ballot abolish the same offices.

SEE KIDDIES MORE IS ADVICE TO DAD

MODESTO, Calif., Jan. 13.—Urging more active participation by fathers in training their children, Dr. F. P. Woellner, associate professor of education at University of California at Los Angeles, believes that children are "literally mothered to death."

"Men in America place business before their children," Dr. Woellner declared in a lecture here. "As a result the child's early training is left to the usually over-worked mother.

"When children attain school age women teachers take up the training.

"America needs education with more masculinity. While many business men feel they cannot spare the time for it, an analysis of the problems would convince them that it is good business for men to play their part in the preparation of their children for life's problems."

20-30 AGE OF RUM VICTIMS IS CLAIM

COLUMBIA, O., Jan. 13.—Present day liquor may not be so plentiful, but its effect is far reaching.

This was brought out here by Dr. Helen Louise Flinn, of the Psychopathic Clinic of Detroit Municipal Hospital, who declared that the drinking of contraband whisky and bootleg gin was making chronic drunkards of the youth of America.

"Most of our present day drunkards," she said, "are to be found between the ages of 20 and 30."

Dr. Flinn pointed out that chronic drunkenness results in defective memory in addition to physical deterioration.

From experiments, she stated, she found that 51.8 per cent of the victims were above the average in intelligence.

Montana Bad Man Peeved At Arrest

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 13.—On a bench in the city jail here, G. L. "Windy" Redman complained that "there ain't no place in the west any more for a real bad man."

"Windy" admitted he was a "bad man" from Montana and he couldn't understand why Phoenix police should put him in jail for carrying concealed weapons merely because he shot jackrabbits from a box car open door as he rode across the desert.

The police took "Windy" when a freight train conductor called headquarters and told authorities that Redman said "dead conductors tell no tales" when he remonstrated with the traveller for his rabbit-hunting complex.

S. F. TO SHATTER CONVENTION MARK

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—More than 300,000 persons are expected to be attracted to California this year through conventions to be held in San Francisco alone, according to Malcolm A. Fraser, secretary-manager of the San Francisco Convention and Tourists league.

Already, Fraser said, sufficient conventions have been pledged to San Francisco to exceed the record number in 1927. The total number of organizations expected here this year is 236 to date, with others undecided. The number for the entire year 1927 was 232.

Attendance at San Francisco conventions last year increased approximately 75,000 over 1926 and the number of gatherings increased by 65.

More than three million persons have been brought to the 2500 conventions held in San Francisco in the 18 years the organization has been functioning, Fraser added.

B. C. Farm Produce Tops All Records

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 13.—Agricultural production in British Columbia in 1927 broke all previous records. The total production for the year is estimated at $72,000,000, or a gain of more than $1,000,000. Weather conditions caused a decrease in some fruit productions. The cattle industry is reported in extremely healthy condition.

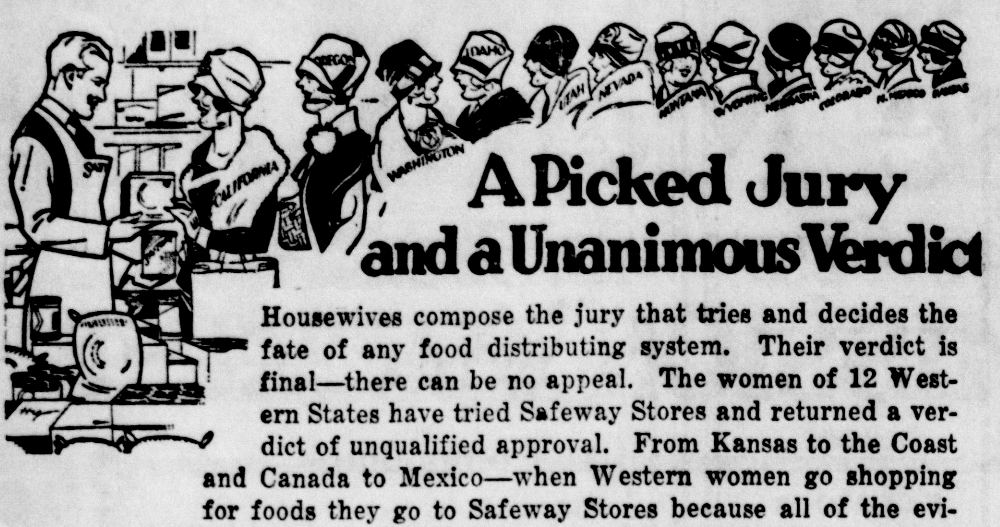
SAFEWAY STORES

DISTRIBUTION WITHOUT WASTE



A Picked Jury and a Unanimous Verdict

Housewives compose the jury that tries and decides the fate of any food distributing system. Their verdict is final—there can be no appeal. The women of 12 Western States have tried Safeway Stores and returned a verdict of unqualified approval. From Kansas to the Coast and Canada to Mexico—when Western women go shopping for foods they go to Safeway Stores because all of the evidence proves that our stores are the most economical and satisfactory places at which to trade.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

RUSSIANS ROW TO AMERICA IN AN OPEN BOAT

By ALFRED P. RECK
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Vocelia Krovcrok was born under an unlucky star.

First of all, he was reared in the bleak, icy wastes of Siberia. Second, his ambitions were cramped by the soviet rule and, third, his hopes of success in America—the land of promise—were nipped in the bud by the watchfulness of the U. S. Coast Guards at Nome, Alaska.

Vocelia listened to glowing reports of the land to the south. His imagination was stirred and he conferred with eight compatriots. They decided to journey to America.

The nine Russians had but little money but they had strength and ambition. Vocelia invested his savings in an open whale boat while the others purchased food and fur clothing.

It was a good 300 miles across the Bering Strais and the Bering sea to an Alaskan haven; the water was storm tossed and ice-packed, but nature in all its Arctic fierceness could not daunt the nine determined Russians.

They embarked from the tip of Siberia in the open whale boat with nothing but oars for the motive power. For 17 days they battled wind, tides and ice. Three by three they took turns propelling the open boat towards the promised land, two at the oars and one at the rudder.

Finally they sighted the rocky coast of Alaska and they steered a course southward along the edge of the Bering sea until the smoke of the city of Nome told them that they were nearing civilization. Vocelia beached his boat about 15 miles north of the city. The nine clambered ashore after one of the most hazardous voyages ever attemnted by modern mariners. Eight of the adventurers pushed on by foot to Nome in search of food, friends and counsel, leaving Vocelia to guard his boat, which they thought might be needed for another journey further south.

Someone advised the coast guard station at Nome that the nine aliens had smuggled themselves into the country. Boatswain Thomas Ross, in charge of the station, started out to round them up.

He and his crew of guardsmen found the whale boat where it had been beached but there were no signs of a crew.

One of the guardsmen spotted the tall tundra grass waving suspiciously a short distance from the boat and investigation disclosed Vocelia in hiding, frightened by the official-looking uniforms.

He was taken to Nome under arrest and turned over to R. W. J. Reed, collector of customs and immigration Inspector. Through an interpreter Vocelia said that his companions had started to work their way south, leaving him in charge of the boat.

His story of the 300-mile battle with ice and seas to reach Alaska touched the coast guardsmen but Vocelia was sentenced to be shipped back to Siberia in spring when the ice breaks up.

A search has been started for his eight companions, according to a report reaching coast guard headquarters here, but it is believed that they managed to reach shelter among the Russians in fishing villages to the south.

Vocelia who conceived the idea and furnished the boat must go back to his former dreary existence in Siberia.

Always Jells Well!

No failures with this dessert.

Just pour the dry Jell-well powder from its air-tight container directly into the mold. Then add boiling water and set aside to cool.

In a short time you have as fine a dessert as was ever set before a king. Clear, firm, beautiful. Delicious, too.

And the most healthful dessert you can serve.

Ask your grocer for Jell-well. Always in the RED box.

Ex-Secretary To Abraham Lincoln Dies In Pasadena

PASADENA, Jan. 13.—Robert Safford Ewing, 87, former private secretary to President Lincoln, is dead in his home here.

Ewing, for 22 years a resident of Southern California, was an artist and an author. He saw service in the Civil war and for a time during the war was held in Libby prison.

CALIFORNIA TRACK PROSPECTS GLOOMY

BERKELEY, Jan. 13.—According to Walt Christie, veteran coach of 28 years, the California track team is going to have a hard row to hoe this spring. Only three men return from the team which competed for California in the I. C. 4 A. meet last summer.

Captain "Lank" Talbot, quarter-miler; John Kabelitz, broad-jumper and Irvine Phillips, weight man, are all brilliant performers but they are a scanty nucleus for a team, representing but four events.

Elmer Gerken, champion weight man and last season's captain; Les Schwobeda, miler; "Nibs" Hill, pole vaulter; Al Ragan, hurdler; and "Ham" Hampton, high jumper; are the men who went east who will not be available this season.

Christie is somewhat cheered by the fact that he has three good sprinters in Homer Van Gelder, Charley Giguiere and Russ Ewing. There is also a ray fo hope in the fact that California was represented last season by one of the most brilliant freshman teams in recent years.

DIXIE GIRLS NEED $600 FOR CLOTHES

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 13.—The girls up in New York may be able to dress on $200 a year but Georgia girls want it strictly understood they can't regale themselves at any such paltry figure.

A consensus of feminine opinion from a group of Georgia cities and towns reveals that Georgia "peaches" feel that $600 per annum is about what it costs to be well dressed in Dixie during this day and time.

Down South any way, it is generally believed the peach blown beauties of Georgia compositely outrank in comeliness daughters of all other states.

Clothes may have something to do with it.

General scorn has greeted the pronouncement of a Columbia university professor that a survey convinced her a Manhattan girl can dress smartly on $200.

That amount is considered only a starter down here.

The normal Dixie business girl spends about $600 on clothes (if she earns enough) or at least $400 say the more cautious. And this is how she buys her things, usually:

Shoes, seven pairs at $10 a pair	$70
Stockings, 24 pairs at $2 each	48
Lingerie (including negligee)	55
Six dresses at $15	90
Five hats	32
Two evening dresses	50
Four party dresses	100
Light summer crepe coat	25
Four pair of gloves at $2.50	10
Bathing suit	6

BELIEF THAT LAND HID OIL CONFIRMED

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Jan. 13.—Land, which Fred Rauschenplatt felt so sure hid oil that in his will he barred its sale for 20 years, has produced a 1000-barrel well to which an 11-year-old girl will profit, it was learned today.

On the land, which Rauschenplatt tied up in 1919, the Elberta Oil company brought in the well Monday. The only known heir is Paulina Stairs, 11, whose father is administrator of the will. Two daughters of a half brother are believed to be in Germany, but never have been located. Rauschenplatt died in 1924.

WOOD IS NEW HEAD OF SEARS-ROEBUCK

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Gen. R. E. Wood has been elected president of Sears-Roebuck and company, succeeding the late C. M. Kittle, Julius Rosenwald, chairman of the board, has announced. Wood has been vice president, in charge of retail stores.

AMERICAN WOMEN RULE IN FRANCE

PARIS, Jan. 13.—American women have found a loyal defender in a scion of one of France's greatest and oldest of noble families, Count Stanislas de la Rochefoucauld, whose other claim to renown is that he is the husband of one of France's most attractive actresses, Alice Cocea.

Count Stanislas declares that in a quarter of a century American women marrying into old French families have modified the physiognomy of Paris and changed its pleasures from indoor to outdoor sports. They have sent Paris society from overcrowded gilded ballrooms into the cabarets and centers of night life.

"American women really run the society of present day Paris," Count Stanislas wrote in a criticism of society which turns out to be a glorification of American women.

"They have caused the demimondaines practically to disappear. The grandiose receptions of our father's days have given way to mad dashes around Paris at night, from one cabaret into another. Conversation has given way to the rhythm of music.

"American women were made for that life. They are pals of speed. Any lack of intellectual gifts is made up by her snobbism, by her opinion of herself. She is her own best press agent.

"Nature has favored her. Her body is remarkable by the breadth of her shoulders, the great flat expanse of chest, the length and fine lines of her limbs. We are far from the women of Louis XV. The American has made it actually indecent for a woman to possess round lines and fleshy limbs.

"In her toilette she is extremely simple and possesses excellent taste. She leaves the armulets and glass nicknacs to her Oriental sisters. When an American woman starts to load herself with jewelry, it's a sure sign she is getting old. European women must copy them or lose out in life."

PLANS FOR SUBWAY UNDER TRACKS ON EAST FOURTH STREET NEARLY COMPLETE

Plans for the subway under the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe cks on East Fourth street have virtually been completed, according a report made by J. L. McBride, chairman of the subway committee, a special meeting last night of the East Santa Ana Improvement sociation at the Finley hotel.

As drafted the plans provide for 700 foot subway, 200 feet of hich would be covered. The driveay will be of sufficient width to rry one line of traffic on each de a division curb in the center. e road width on each side will 18 feet. On the surface, the ad width will be about the same exists on each side of the street which the double street car acks are maintained. It was inted out by McBride that this uld make two depots easily ailable to traffic and that, if cessary, the surface roadway uld take care of traffic in peds of heavy travel over the city eet. At the low point, the suby will be 14 fet deep.

The association has been agitat- this improvement virtually ce it was organized and progs is being made in the steps cessary to bring the project to head.

A. W. Gerrard and John Cubbon, the store front committee, reted that blue prints had been de and plans had been accepted a number of extensive improvets in the modernizing of store ts and buildings on East Fourth eet, and in remodeling of upirs office rooms.

. S. Smart, one of the men inested in the organization of a w commercial national bank e, commented on progress made the creation of the new financial titution, and pointed out that a arter has been granted and that ck subscriptions were being ken. Options on locations are ng considered, he said.

Clyde Jenken, city engineer, dissed the proposed widening of t First street, and stressed the nt that at this time widening proposed only between Main eet and the railroad tracks. He icipated the time, however, en the widening program will be ended to the east city limits.

An ornamental lighting system bracing Bush, Spurgeon and nch streets between First and th was one of the projects of association, and George Wells orted that plans for the imvement had been completed. He ressed the view that installation the system would balance up lighting of the business dist.

JULIA LATHROP PUPILS STAGE FINE OPERETTA

The romantic coast of France, the lovely peasant maids of that land across the seas, a proud young Duke of Beaujolais, a haughty countess, a party of American tourists, and a group of truly amusing servants, all contributed to a fairy scene enacted last night on the boards at Santa Ana high school auditorium, where young people of Julia Lathrop junior high school presented their annual operetta, "The Bells of Beaujolais," to a large and extremely appreciative crowd.

Tuneful and harmonious, the current offering of the school, has been declared by music lovers who last night witnessed the performance, to have attained a standard for junior high school productions, never before reached, even though performances in the past have been of high merit.

For many weeks the young people have been rehearsing, under the direction of Miss Edith Cornell and Miss Maxine Zolman, of the Julia Lathrop music department. During the time, other departments of the school have been equally busy, for all scenic effects were built in the work shops of Julia Lathrop, and the costumes have been fashioned in the sewing rooms. Results have been more than satisfactory for ever scene was beautiful, and the costumes, of the Louis XII period, were charming.

The opening scene was that of a village on the coast of France, where the carnival spirit was manifest. Flower booths offered a picture of harmonious colors, heightened by the countless vivid balloons floating hither and yon, with a great cluster of them swaying directly above the center of the stage.

Comedy Uppermost

A party of American tourists, accompanying the wealthy American (played by Duncan Harnois) join the attractive peasants, and are later entertained by the Duke of Beaujolais, (Rodney Yould.) Everyone who saw the delightful little opera, expressed delight in the team work of these two principals. They had a nice sense of comedy that was manifested in all they said and did. The Duke was a gallant figure indeed, wearing a costume of rich velvet in hunter's green, in the first act, and black satin in the second. He was dignified and a trifle haughty—as a duke should be—and his solo work was excellent. Duncan Harnois was equally well-cast in his part, and Miss Marian Cruickshank as "Aunt Sarah," spinster sister of the American, presented some of the cleverest character acting ever seen here in a school production.

Other unusually clever character work was done by Miss Edwina Gilliland as "Fantine," the little French maid; Gordon Rubins as "Harkins," the valet; and Miss Vyola Chapman, as the "Countess of Beaujolais," stately and lovely in a rosy apricot satin, velvet and lace gown.

One of the outstanding features was the solo by Carl Zirinsky playing the part of "Tony," and its accompanying chorus of boys' voices, at the beginning of the second act. The work was in four parts and was musical and beautiful. The duet, "The Fairest Dream of All," by Miss Joy Best as "Yvonne," and Gale Smith as "Larry," was another satisfying bit, as was the quartette, "A Trip to Venus," sung by Mildred Van Slyck, Marietta Limbaugh, Gale Smith and Carl Zirinsky.

Folk Dancing

In addition to the various song numbers, the action was interspersed with the daintiest of folk dancing by the prettily costumed choruses. The peasant maids were gowned in copies of genuine Normandy peasant costumes, and presented a colorful and lovely appearance. The street scene of the first act was rendered doubly amusing by the antics of "Chico and Pierre," wrestler and juggler respectively, played by James Danerí and William Friend. The second scene was quite as delightful, for it was laid in the gardens of the Duke's castle, where he was entertaining the Americans. These included the two charming girls, "Phyllis" and "Belle," played by the Misses Mildred Van Slyck and Marietta Limbaugh.

The two French maidens, "Yvonne" and "Susette" were played by the Misses Joy Best and Phyllis Pope.

"The Bells of Beaujolais" will be repeated tonight at 8 o'clock, in the high school auditorium, and will features musical numbers by the Julia Lathrop orchestra, and the overture to the operetta played by members of the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, who formerly studied at Julia Lathrop. These organizations were accorded much applause at last night's performance. The cast will remain unchanged with but one exception. John Barnard will sing the role of "Larry," offered last night by Gale Smith.

Farm Children Held Superior

WWELLINGTON, Jan. 13—Farm children are superior to city-reared children, says a national report on a survey of the physical growth and mental attainment of the boys and girls of New Zealand. Superiority of farmers' children was most pronounced at the age of 13.

The survey included 20,000 town and country children ranging in age from 10 to 14 and was carried out by the director of the health department's division of school hygiene and the assistant director of education.

Grouping the boys and girls in accordance with the fathers' occupation the investigators ascertained that the children of the farmers were tallest, being closely followed by those of professional men. Regarding weight it was shown that farmers' children were markedly heavier than the average, the difference increasing with age, while the children of professional men, though above the average in height, showed no excess in weight.

Total result of the survey showed that the average height and average weight of children of good mental attainment were greater than in the case of those of inferior ability.

JACK LOCKWELL

By Patten

"It's me!" called a voice which Jack recognized as that of Mouse. "I knowed there was goin' to be a big scrap, so I didn't hang round. But I run slap inter the night cop, and I told him the gang had pulled a coupla 'Cademy saps inter the place and was cleanin' 'em up. They knifed me, that bunch of bums did, and this was my chance to get back at them."

"I won't forget what you did, Mouse," promised Jack. "That's all right," returned the town boy. "I owed you one. And I wanted to even up wit' that gang. Good night."

As they approached through the softly falling snow, Hampton House looked reassuringly dark and silent. But they couldn't move the window when they tried to get in.

"Now we're in a pickle!" whispered Jack. "It's fastened!" "Maybe it's stuck," suggested Sinnott. Lockwell got out his pocket flash and shot the light on the sash-lock, inside. "No, it's bolted!", he returned. "Somebody's fixed us!" Then he heard something that made him quickly switch the light to the right. The ray fell on a dark form, rushing at them!

"DUNLOP CITY"

Throughout the world the productive Dunlop properties cover so vast an area that—if combined into one place—they would form a "Dunlop City" of over 100,000 acres.

BEFORE Detroit started to make motor-cars, Dunlop had founded the pneumatic tire industry.

Thanks to the automobile, both Detroit and "Dunlop City" have grown tremendously.

Now Detroit reaches out over 52,686 acres, while "Dunlop City" covers over 100,000 acres.

And even greater than the size of "Dunlop City," is Dunlop's world-wide reputation for building uniformly supreme Dunlop Tires.

Supreme quality made possible Dunlop's great size. In turn, Dunlop's great size makes possible this same supreme quality, at lower prices.

You can expect more of Dunlops.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS
County Improvement No. 12

Pursuant to Statute and to Resolution of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange directing this notice, said Board of Supervisors hereby invites sealed proposals or bids for doing the work and improvement described in Resolution of Intention No. 12-C of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange, adopted December 13th, 1927, and said Resolution of Intention is hereby referred to for a description of said work and improvement, the grades to which it is to be done, a description of the district to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof, the bonds to be issued upon the security of the unpaid assessments, and for all further particulars contained in said Resolution of Intention. Reference is hereby further made to the specifications for said work posted and on file in the office of the County Clerk.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by a check payable to the County of Orange, certified by a responsible bank for an amount which shall not be less than ten per cent of the aggregate of the proposal, or by a bond for the said amount and so payable, signed by the bidder and two sureties, who shall justify, before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double the said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions.

Said proposals or bids shall be delivered to the clerk of the said board on or before 11 o'clock A. M., on Tuesday, the 7th day of February, 1928, said time being not less than ten days from the time of the first publication and posting of this notice, on which day and hour all proposals or bids received will be publicly opened by said Board of Supervisors.

Dated: January 10, 1928.
(Seal) J. M. BACKS,
Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE NO. 73

THAT, WHEREAS, by deed of trust dated the 6th day of April, 1926, and recorded the 22nd day of April, 1926, in Book 642, Page 194 of Deeds, Records of Orange County, California, to which reference is hereby made, E. M. Thetford and Mary E. Thetford, husband and wife, did grant and convey the property therein and hereinafter described to The California National Bank of Long Beach, a banking corporation of Long Beach, Los Angeles County, California, as Trustee, to secure among other things the payment of one certain promissory note in favor of W. W. Belden, and other sums of money advanced and interest thereon; and

WHEREAS said promissory note has been duly assigned by said W. W. Belden to Elwyn Speaker and Alice V. Harmon, son and mother, as joint tenants with the right of survivorship and

WHEREAS there has been a default in the payment of interest due on said note secured by said Deed of Trust in the following particular: The installment of interest which became due and payable July 6, 1927, is past due and unpaid. And by reason of said default, said Elwyn Speaker and Alice V. Harmon, the owners and holders of said note and Deed of Trust, in accordance with the provisions thereof, on the 19th day of September, 1927, exercised their option and declared the full amount of the indebtedness secured by said deed of trust immediately due and payable, there being the total principal sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) and interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent (8%) per annum from April 6, 1927, then due and unpaid; and

Whereas in accordance with the provisions of Section 2924 of the Civil Code of the State of California, said Elwyn Speaker and Alice V. Harmon, the owners and holders of said Note and Deed of Trust on the 21st day of September, 1927, caused to be recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Orange County, California, a notice of Breach of Obligation in the payment of interest and of their election to cause the property described in said deed of trust to be sold in accordance with the provisions thereof to satisfy said obligations and which Notice of Default and Election to Sell was duly recorded in Book 87, Page 189 of Official Records of Orange County, California; and

WHEREAS said deed of trust provided that if there be a default in the payment of any sums secured thereby, upon application of the holder of said note and deed of trust, the Trustee shall give notice and sell so much of the property as shall be necessary to satisfy the indebtedness secured thereby; and

WHEREAS said Elwyn Speaker and Alice V. Harmon, by reason of the default of payments as hereinbefore stated, have requested and did request on the 19th day of September 1927, by notice in writing duly served on The California National Bank of Long Beach that said The California National Bank of Long Beach give notice and sell said property or so much thereof as shall be necessary to sell to pay all the indebtedness secured and the necessary expenses incurred in the execution of this trust.

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that The California National Bank of Long Beach, by virtue of the authority vested in it as Trustee, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, lawful money of the United States of America, on the 23rd day of January, 1928, at the hour of eleven o'clock A. M. of said day at the North Side Entrance of The California National Bank of Long Beach, County of Los Angeles, State of California, all of the interest conveyed to it by said deed of trust in and to all of that certain property situate in the County of Orange, State of California, described as follows:

Lots Five (5), Six (6), Seven (7) and Eight (8), Block "H" Tract 531 Ellinger Square, as per map recorded in Book 18, Pages 2 and 3 of Miscellaneous Maps, in the office of the Recorder of said County.

Or so much thereof as shall be necessary to pay the total amount of the principal in the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) together with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent (8%) per annum from April 6, 1927, to date of sale, Trustee's Fees of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), advances made under the terms of said Deed of Trust, if any, and all costs of posting, advertising and any other necessary expenses in connection with said sale.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF said The California National Bank of Long Beach has duly authorized this notice by the signature of its Vice-President, attested by the Secretary who has affixed the corporate seal at Long Beach California this 29th day of December, 1927.

THE CALIFORNIA NATIONAL

HE WAS JUST THE SAME WHEN HE COURTED MY SISTER—MY OLD GENT NEVER LIKED HIM — THE ONLY WAY HE COULD GET HIM OUT OF THE WAY WAS TO LET MY SISTER MARRY HIM.
THE OLD GENT USED TO CALL HIM 'CUPOLA' HE SAID HIS HEAD WAS JUST PUT THERE TO FINISH THE JOB—NO REASON FOR IT—AND THEN HE'D COME WITH 10 CENTS WORTH OF CANDY IN A BAG. YOU KNOW THAT KIND OF CANDY [illegible] WHEN THEY MAKE IT AND HE'D WALK [illegible] WITH TWO MEALS A LUMBERJACK [illegible] LIVE ALL WINTER ON—AND NOW HE'S CRYING BECAUSE I'M SPENDING A [illegible] WITH HIM.
YOUR BROTHER-IN-LAW WAS JUST GIVING ME A LITTLE OF YOUR EARLY HISTORY—IT'S INTERESTING AND VERY FUNNY.
AND YOU LISTENED TO HIM! IT'S FUNNY WHEN SOMEONE STARTS TO PAN ME HOW THOSE ELEPHANT EARS OF YOURS REACH OUT IN GLORIOUS WELCOME— MY FRIEND!

BUY FRONTAGE

What wouldn't you give to own a frontage on the bay at Balboa with a pier and boats docked ready for a moonlight trip, and bathing at your very front door? We have just 60 feet of it improved with modern bungalow that will accommodate ten or more people. It is very close in and of course is worth plenty but with the scarcity of such property can you apprehend the ultimate value? If you have income property and can afford to own a summer home such as this, we'll made an exchange for you.

EVENING SALUTATION

There is no courage but in innocence;
No constancy but in an honest cause.
—Thomas Southern.

WE DO NOT LIKE A WALL

Representative Hudspeth of Texas has introduced a bill in the House of Congress providing appropriation for the building of a wall several miles long on the border line between the United States and Mexico. This he proposes to build at Cordova Island, near El Paso. He says its purpose is to aid in controlling border movements.

We hope that such a wall will not be built. It has been our proud boast all these years that we have no walls or boundary separations of this character either north or south of our great country.

Walls do not control movements. They may prevent them or make them difficult but movement from its very nature requires freedom and human movement should be controlled by intelligence and the will.

Savages or the ignorant build walls to control moves, intelligent people build colleges and universities.

Page Will Hays, the Presbyterian elder, the good-will head of the motion picture trust. He is needed. He should go to Berkeley at once and straighten out the tangle in the First Presbyterian church in that city. After an actress had been invited to speak to a Men's Bible class on the making of the moving picture, the Session of the church refused to permit her to speak and there was tears and apologies and disputes and all the rest. The alleged ground for this refusal was the inconsistency between the theater and the church.

Will Hays has been employed at a high salary to show the harmony between the church and the movies. His church relationship is always emphasized and, in fact, he wouldn't be worth half the salary he is, probably not a fourth, if he wasn't in good and regular standing in the church and in a very honorable, powerful and dignified body. More than that, some time ago he headed up the committee that raised some 15,000,000 of dollars for pensioning the aged ministers of that church. As we recall, they were successful in that undertaking.

What that Presbyterian Session needs in Berkeley is for Will Hays to come out and set them right. He can show them where the harmony lies and, in any case, we suppose that two-thirds of the churches in this country are having moving pictures shows of their own.

One does not know whether to take this action humorously or seriously.

BETTER SHORTEN THE PERIOD

Under the laws of this state many localities are organized as cities of the sixth class. Naturally the code applying to these cities must be the same, whether it is a community having a few hundred or a few thousand people. In the law is a provision that officers of the city shall be elected for a period of four years. This is a long time in the life of a fast growing community. People and conditions quickly change and policies which seemed wise at the beginning of an administration are entirely unwise before the close of it and the citizens want to change. Then again the interests of the town are not so large. The citizens know every detail of the lives of their officials in these little places of the few hundred. They become dissatisfied with them as is usually true in any small community. Under the law they are permitted to circulate a petition and have a recall of these officials. It is not a difficult process to place in operation, but it is just as expensive as a regular election and many of the communities are constantly having recall elections.

We are not discussing the question of the wisdom of recalling officials. There are occasions when it seems as though there is no other way out. But we are confident that if the laws should be changed making the term two years instead of four that it would act as a very fine lesson in self-restraint, for they would rather put up with the disagreeable until the end of the term than to have an extra election. There might be such limitations placed on such recall that the citizens would exercise a keener discrimination in the election, realizing that it was going to be for at least two years.

We agree that four years is too long for officials to serve, even when the citizens have made a mistake, but we believe that there is better training in democracy for the citizens to suffer somewhat for not exercising proper judgment at election than to have them constantly think they can elect anybody and fire them out at will, for "firing them out" is an expensive process and does not make for orderly procedure.

Of course where the recall is joined with the regular election of other officials the added expense does not have to be met, but we believe the legislature could well afford to cut down the time of service in cities of this class because the citizens would not consider every two years too often to have an election and longer than that is too long to have an official in the election of whom a serious mistake was made.

IS IT NOT PATHETIC?

We were in a home in Santa Ana the other evening when a young man returned from one of the movie theaters. We noted that he threw himself on the couch rather silently as though there was something on his mind and finally he said, "I saw a strange incident in the theater tonight. Sitting in the seats next to me was a well-dressed man, woman, and their child. A little while after they got seated the usher came down the aisle, looked over this man and asked him if he were a Mexican. He said he was. The usher said, 'Then you will have to get out of this theater and,'" he said, "the man and his [illegible] left."

[illegible] continued, the boy said that the [illegible] tect any clean, well-behaved man or woman in their rights anywhere in the United States.

After sitting in on this little incident we were interested in looking up the law that has been framed for just such cases by the people of this great commonwealth. And in the California code, Sec. 53, we found this:

> "It is unlawful for any corporation, person, or association, or the proprietor, lessee, or the agents of either, of any opera house, theatre, melodeon, museum, circus, caravan, race course, fair or other place of public amusement or entertainment, to refuse admittance to any person over the age of twenty-one years who presents a ticket of admission acquired by purchase or who tenders the price thereof for such ticket and who demands admission to such place.
> "Any person under the influence of liquor, or who is guilty of boisterous conduct, or any person of lewd or immoral character, may be excluded from such place of amusement."

We presume that this was done thoughtlessly by the usher. Is it not worth while to keep that fine sense of justice that a child has just as pure and sensitive as it can be? It is a sad and serious thing to lose it. His reaction was the reaction that we all should have. For us to talk about our American civilization and ideals and Americanization and to mistreat those whom we consider a weaker or less powerful group is to belie our own declarations.

The picture show can be utilized as one of the finest instruments of teaching all that is best in our civilization. For example, take "Old Ironsides," a beautiful show, illustrating the elements of patriotism. Can we conceive of a finer or more beautiful way to teach our weaker brethren nobility, honor, chivalry, and the virtues of the bigger life than through the medium of the picture show? We should teach him with the courtesy and kindness that is due the sojourner in a strange land.

We have not counseled with the moving picture people in respect to this incident. We know that if this act was a part of a general policy it is carried on because they believe the patron desires that policy to be pursued. This is a reflection on all of us. We should make it easy for the right thing to be done by all people. We can do it by banishing prejudice and keeping our minds and consciences at the delicate equilibrium that the child has who is untarnished by this false pride and prejudice.

Patriotism Hurts Business

Redlands Facts

Mayor Thompson's anti-British war seems to be hurting Chicago more than it hurts King George. A Chicago attorney, counsel for exporters, tells a luncheon club that already Chicago has lost orders for $1,500,000 worth of goods which would otherwise have been bought here. The orders consisted largely of radio equipment for Australia. The Australians and New Zealanders say they will not patronise a city that is so hostile to Great Britain. This feeling is said to be spreading throughout the British Empire.

It is a natural result of the attitude attributed to Chicago as a result of its mayor's superpatriotic zeal.

Many Chicagoans doubtless consider the game worth what it costs. And so it would be, if there were any sense or sanity in it. No good American wants to reckon patriotism in terms of business profit. Business was sacrificed throughout the American colonies during the Revolution, and will be sacrificed again cheerfully enough by scores of millions, whenever a good cause shall appear. But to most Americans, and possibly to the more calm and intelligent people of Chicago, it looks very much as if "Big Bill" Thompson is fighting windmills and making his city ridiculous in the eyes of the world. In that fact lies Chicago's most serious loss.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

A young couple is married. Children come. Life settles down to the struggle for bread and shelter and a share of happiness. But the two that made the home, the two who together created the children, are very unhappy. Life together is not at all what it promised to be. One or the other or both feel cheated, resentful, angry.

But who made the promises? Who created the illusions? The dreams? Try as we may, justly or unjustly to lay the blame at nature's door, to curse her for implanting the eternal urge within the breasts of youth, the fact remains. We dreamed the dream. We created the illusion. If nature offered we accepted. Suppose she went her way and left us to our drab selves. Will it do us any good to rail about it? Not one bit. We are here facing the fact that we have two children in a home created by two people more or less responsible and in a way of becoming still more responsible as years go by. What of it?

Most decent people pay their debts. Those who evade them call down the scorn of their fellows. It may be because an unpaid debt must be met by the whole community. Debts are paid whether they who incurred them pay or another pays. The bill comes in and society pays it. Perhaps, I say, that is the reason we have such a scorn for those who cheat.

People who bring children into the world owe a heavy debt to those children. They owe them as much happiness as they can wring from life and that is a whole lot when the accounts are all settled. They owe them protection, help, comfort, training, education and inspiration. They owe them the companionship and intimate friendship of fatherhood and motherhood. A child is entitled to both.

But they are so very unhappy, this father and mother. They cannot live together in peace. Have they no rights? I don't know. But if you ask me I would say they had no rights that cheated their children out of a happy, healthy, wholesome childhood.

There are people of course, who should never have been parents. But they are. There are the children. Some fathers and some mothers make life perfectly miserable for the children. The children would be happier away from them. You [illegible] I know that. But does that free the parent from the weight of his responsibility? WHY is he so mean that his children cannot live in the home? WHY did he found the home unless he meant to stick to the end, bitter or sweet, for the children's sakes?

I am not so naive as to expect all [illegible] to [illegible] and happily and in accordance with the [illegible] death—but I am old enough to [illegible] that men and women can be so [illegible] to their children as to cast them out [illegible] when a [illegible] of self sacrifice would have sheltered them and made them happier; when a little patience, a [illegible] or endurance, might have saved the children [illegible] sorrow.

Everybody has the right to his own life—but no right to [illegible] it [illegible] of another. [illegible] about their children?

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

AMBITION

My teachers did always their strenuous best—
They made it their object and mission—
To rouse in my sluggish and indolent breast
The urge of a lofty ambition.
They cited the names of the daring and great
Who back to the earliest ages
Had made themselves shine in the annals of state
And had lighted up history's pages.

I was told of Napoleon's marvelous [illegible],
Of Caesar's great conquering marches
And of various other untamable guys,
Who were honored with triumphal arches.
I was led to believe if I got better marks—
Mine were always way down around zero—
And put in less time on inconsequent larks—
I might, some fine day, be a hero.

But now I have read of the lives of the great
Who were earnest and worthy and clever,
I find that some horrid and hideous fate
Was the fruit of their highest endeavor.
After just a few years spent in battle and strife
They exiled and jailed little Nappy,
While Caesar's farewell to the strenuous life
Was hardly what might be called happy.

Perhaps had I heeded the words of the wise
And been stirred by the call of ambition
I might, in my time, have attempted to rise
To some proud and exalted position:
But knowing what happened to people who did—
Though my chance of distinction is hazy—
I am pleased to recall that I was when a kid
So utterly, stolidly lazy.

Keyserling is coming to this country to tell us that women rule here. We wonder if he regards this as information?

THE NEW STAGE TALK

No modern course in dramatic writing can be complete without a year on a pirate ship.

UPSTAGE, AND HOW!

Perhaps, Mr. Mussolini isn't entirely arrogant, but he certainly is a little black shirty.

Chivalry? Surely

The other day Miss Jean [illegible] of New York completed a fourteen months' trip around the world. The journey was made in 12 ships, most of them little freighters in the eastern tropics.

Everywhere, she said, especially in the east she found respect for womanhood. As she puts it:

"Chivalry has not lessened since the days of the knights of old. Every man is a gentleman and every woman is a lady."

Uncommon Sense

New Worlds to Conquer

Alexander the Great, after he had brought an extremely small section of Europe and Asia under his domination, wept because there were no more worlds to conquer.

Had he had the slightest idea of the regions that stretched between his army and the arctic circle on one hand, the Cape of Good Hope on the other, or the two vast unknown continents to the west, he might have spared his tears.

The other day I heard an explorer say:

"Well, when Byrd has mapped the South Polar region, and we have found out a little more about the inside of Africa, there will be no more to find out about the world, and we shall have to find some means of voyaging to the planets."

His observation would have interested the scientist, who is still groping for truths about real things in this world.

We have harnessed electricity, but we know nothing about what it is.

We have exploded the atom, but that is but a beginning in the task we have set ourselves of understanding it.

There are still myriads of important facts about nature and its workings, which are completely hidden from us.

Slowly, scientists are discovering more and more about germs and their operation—although there are many of these germs which they have never seen.

Slowly they are going back to the beginnings of the world, and trying to find out how it evolved to its present state.

The theory of evolution explains many things, but there is always a [illegible] past which no [illegible] can go.

We know very little of the world. We have conquered very little of it.

There is in its interior and in the sun above it enough energy in the form of heat to run all the [illegible]

A Cab Warning

One of the interesting [illegible] of the past week was that of the new taxicab of one Mr. [illegible] When I stepped into it at Times Square I found [illegible] right hand were matches, an [illegible] package of cigarettes, an ashtray. My host explained that this was his first day with the new car and that he was not to be outdone by Fifth avenue shops in the amenities on [illegible] day.

LOOK WHERE THAT BOY LEFT HIS BIKE I BOUGHT HIM FOR CHRISTMAS!
LOOK AT THE CARELESSNESS OF THAT KID! THAT'S HOW MUCH HE APPRECIATES HIS CHRISTMAS GIFTS.
WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THAT_ I WOULD HAVE THOUGHT I WAS THE LUCKIEST BOY IN THE WORLD IF I HAD A BICYCLE WHEN I WAS HIS AGE.
WHY DONT YOU GET A ROLLER-SKATE? THAT'S SO BIG YOU'LL FALL OFF AND BREAK YOUR NECK.
I'LL SNEAK IT INTO THE HOUSE AND HIDE IT AND TEACH HIM A LESSON.
I'LL PUT IT IN THIS CLOSET AND ASK HIM WHERE IT IS.
YOUNG MAN, WHERE IS THAT BICYCLE I GAVE YOU FOR CHRISTMAS? WHERE IS IT?
IT'S DOWN IN THE BASEMENT WHERE I ALWAYS KEEP IT_ RIGHT DOWN UNDER THE STEPS.
YOU SHOW IT TO ME, YOUNG MAN_ I WANT TO SEE IT!
ALLRIGHT_ COME DOWN WITH ME, DADDY, I'LL SHOW IT TO YOU
THERE IT IS, DADDY,_ I CLEANED IT UP NICE AND PUT IT THERE WHEN I GOT THROUGH PLAYING WITH IT.
KNOCK KNOCK
THERE HE IS MR. POLICEMAN_ I SAW HIM SNEAK IT HOME UNDER HIS COAT.
WHERE IS THIS KID'S BIKE?_ WHERE IS IT?
HERE IT IS OFFICER, I THOUGHT IT WAS_
YOU THOUGHT IT WAS YOURS_SOME DAY YOU'RE GOING TO THINK A BANK IS YOURS_ I GOT A GOOD NOTION TO LOCK YOU UP.
THAT'S EARL GRAY'S BIKE_ IT'S JUST LIKE MINE_ YOU GOT TO BE CAREFUL, DADDY. THEY MAKE A LOT OF THINGS EXACTLY ALIKE
